Legionnaires Build New Sidewalk

Eighteen Legionnaires set a new sidewalk in front of the American Legion Home Saturday.

The old sidewalk, which a member of the group guessed was put down "sometime in the early 1900's," had deteriorated badly. At a board of directors meeting last month the group voted to put in a new walk "though most of us aren't used to that kind of work."

John Parsons, Clarendon contractor, volunteered to supervise the project and show the men how to do a professional job. Tools, equipment and labor were donated. The cement was ordered from the Tionesta Sand and Gravel Co.

The project got under way at 6 a. m., with Mrs. Alan Burkler, wife of a working Legionnaire, on hand to spur the men on to a good start with plenty of hot coffee and doughnuts. The old sidewalk blocks were first picked up with a high-lift, broken up with sledge hammers and carted away.

Then forms were set to grade and line in accordance with thorough specifications. Parsons took measurements and established the plumb lines. The men shoveled and raked so that the base for the cement would be even and at the proper height and set in the long boards which would keep twelve yards of concrete, approximately 24 tons, was poured into the 850-square foot area, placed in position, "floated" to compact the top surface, and left to set until it was ready for marking.

Legionnaire Frank Secenequa served the men a hot goulash lunch.

When the walk was ready, it was marked into squares with groovers and edgers, "broomed" to a rough pattern, cured and protected.

The job was finished by twilight. Grass seed will be planted where the area was leveled between sidewalks and curb.

In addition to Burkler, Parsons and Secenequa, those who worked on the project included Bob Schatzle, Bob Swanson, Ed Stahl, Ed Newman, Walt Ahlquist, Norm Perry, Floyd Ahlquist, Bill Pearson, Al Baubach, Larry McCann, Vic Carino, Art Barr, Francis Wickham, Basil Trowbridge and Tom Youngquist.

Library Is Considered As One of 29 'Centers'

The Warren Library Association has been recommended as a District Library Center, according to a report prepared by the University of Pennsylvania Institute of Public Administration.

Playgrounds To Open Here Wednesday

Warren borough playgrounds will be open for the summer season this Wednesday at 1 p. m., it has been announced by Fred Bell, recreation director.

The program is co-sponsored by the Warren Borough Council and the Warren Borough School Board and is administered by the Warren Recreation Board.

PLAYGROUNDS are open generally from 10 a. m. to noon, 1 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m. There will be no supervision at Beech St. in the mornings and Airport playground will open at 11 a. m. because of poor attendance in the early hours. Playgrounds with wading pools and Beauty will be open continuously from 10 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The play areas are open Monday through Friday. Crescent playground and picnic area will have supervision on Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. so that picnickers may have access to equipment.

THE Parks Department under Superintendent Gilbert Reier has been busy cutting grass, repairing and painting equipment in preparation for the opening.

Registration will take place Wednesday and Thursday. Children who do not register then should have their names added to the list the first day they use the playground.

PLAYGROUNDS are primarily for children of school age. Any child of pre-school age must be accompanied by an older child or adult. Dogs and other pets are to

—See 'Playgrounds,' Pg. 8

The proposed district would include: Warren, Forest, McKean, Elk and Cameron counties. Total population of the district is 149,498.

Twenty-eight other districts were designated in the report.

ACCORDING to William F. Clinger Jr., president of the Board of Control of the Warren Library Association, the recommendation is now in the hands of the State Librarian, Ralph Blasingame Jr. Standards for library service, to be met by the district libraries, will be set up by the Pennsylvania State Library Association.

AFTER the standards are established, the local library board will be asked to accept this program. The standards should be announced within the next two weeks, Clinger said.

Dr. Kenneth E. Beasley, director of the Institute, prepared the report.

BLASINGAME said Dr. Beasley's study was a continuation and refinement of the Pennsylvania library service survey, published by the State Library in 1958.

"The 1958 proposals were incorporated in the State Library Code, passed by the 1961 General Assembly. It authorized the legislation for the district center system. "The purpose of the study," Blasingame said, "was to determine how best to provide the state in order to provide the best possible library service for the most Pennsylvanians."

DR. Beasley separated the state into seven general regions based primarily on population and library facilities available.

The regions are: Southwest, West and Northwest, South-Central, and Northeast.

Vows He's Not Hostile to Business

JFK Urges Critics To 'Join Hands'

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—President Kennedy urged today that critics, business and political, discard "wornout slogans" and join hands with the government to pump new strength and confidence into the nation's economy. Kennedy vowed his clash with the steel industry did not mean his administration is hostile toward business.

But in a speech prepared for Yale University's commencement, he said the government is obliged to exercise "watchful concern for our economic health" while business and labor must live up to their public responsibilities.

Kennedy said economic problems bearing down on a free economy cannot be solved without separating myth from reality—and he said it is mythical to contend that government is big and wrong or to argue that deficits in the federal budget always create inflation.

He responded by implication to charges by Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and some spokesmen for business that his policies touched off recent stock market gyrations.

Among false issues which he said are frustrating efforts to push the economy forward, Kennedy declared "is the assertion that any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel—however temporary and however plainly speculative in character—are the result of 'lack of confidence in the national administration.'"

"This, I must tell you, while comforting, is not wholly true. Worse, it obscures the reality—which is also simple. The solid ground of mutual confidence is the necessary partnership of government with all the sectors of our society in the steady quest for economic progress," Kennedy said.

"This administration is not going to give way to general hostility to business merely because there has been a single temporary disagreement with an industry, nor will the future belong to those who ignore the realities of our economic life in a neurotic search for unending reassurance."

"Corporate plans are not based on a political confidence in party leaders," Kennedy said, but on economic confidence in the nation's ability to invest, produce and consume. Business had confidence in Republican administrations of 1929, 1934, 1938 and 1950, he said, "but this was not enough to prevent recession when business lacked full confidence in the economy."

What really matters, Kennedy said, is the capacity of the nation as a whole to deal with problems and opportunities alike.

Kennedy chose Yale's 261st commencement to deliver what the White House clearly regarded an important statement of his administration's domestic views.

He received an honorary degree—his 22nd—and joked about the fact that as a Harvard graduate he is now a Yale man.

"Someone has told me that I now have the best of both worlds—a Harvard education and a Yale degree," Kennedy said.

Turning serious, the chief executive said neither partisan wrangling nor "incantations from the forgotten past" can throw light on today's problems.

"It is not new that past debates should obscure present realities," Kennedy said. "But the damage of such false dialogue is greater today than ever before, simply because today the safety of all the world—the very future of freedom—depends as never before upon the sensible and clear-headed management of the domestic affairs of the United States."

Of the size and shape of government, he said the myth is that it is "big and bad—and steadily getting bigger and worse." Government spending has increased, regardless of the party in power, he said, but government has not grown as fast as the economy.

Kennedy said all sides must abandon "traditional labels and wornout slogans of an earlier era" to "keep our mighty economic machine moving steadily ahead."

Western Europe's progress in the last decade illustrates how government can coordinate all sectors of an economy to generate prosperity, he said.

Anne Lewis and Bob Schaeffer, Warren-Mirror correspondents from Warren Area High School for the past year, will be separated for the first time in many years this fall when Anne leaves for Hood College and Bob for Washington and Lee University.

The two have been "buddies" since they were three years old, according to Mrs. Lee Schaeffer, Bob's mother, going to the same kindergarten (Mrs. Mary Conway's, which was private in those days) and through Pleasant elementary school, Beaty junior high and the high school together. Their families are close friends and it was a coincidence, Mrs. Schaeffer says, that Principal Joseph Passaro chose them to write WAHS news for the Times-Mirror. At the commencement exercises last Thursday night, Anne was a recipient of the Class of 1925 Cup, Bob of the University of Pennsylvania Cup.

It has been announced the Dads of Foreign Service Veterans will meet only once a month until further notice, with the next meeting at 8 p. m., Tuesday in the VFW post rooms. Members of the group will go to the District meeting in Titusville on Wednesday.

Francis Bevevino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bevevino, 812 Fourth Ave., was graduated June 9 from Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Penna., with a B.S. degree in Business Administration. Bevevino will be associated with Seidman and Seidman, Erie, an accounting firm.

Deadly Ambush

SARONNO, Italy (AP)—Widow Domenica Zandrini took a rifle and hid behind the chicken pen Sunday night to try to catch thieves she suspected of stealing her poultry.

A little after midnight she was startled to see a figure appear before her in the darkness. She fired and killed her eldest son, Silvano, 15.

He had come to take a turn on watch so his mother could rest.

Nine Killed in Traffic In State During Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents in Pennsylvania killed nine persons over the weekend.

Two 16-year-old boys drowned, a race driver was killed in a smash-up at the Reading Fairgrounds and an elderly man was injured fatally by a bulldozer to push the over-all toll to 13 from the period beginning at 6 p. m. Friday and ending at midnight Sunday.

One double fatality was reported. Glen Barrick, 30, of Carlisle R. D. 4, and Joseph Negley, 22, of Newville R. D. 2, were killed Sunday night in a one-car accident four miles west of Carlisle.

The other victims included:

Pittston—James J. Murphy, 19, of Wilkes-Barre, was killed Sunday night when he was killed Sunday night when he was riding on a crash into an embankment on the Pittston bypass.

Perkasie—Harold Higgins, 16, of Sellersville, drowned Sunday while playing around a farm pond. Authorities said the youth, a non-swimmer, jumped fully clothed into the pond.

219 Hurt As Train Derails

By JACK ZYGMOND

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A Northern Pacific luxury train shot off a mountain curve in western Montana Sunday, killing a child and injuring 219 of its 330 passengers.

Only two of the 17 cars remained on the rails in the dawn derailment, which may cost the railroad $1 million.

The other 15 cars of the Seattle-to-Chicago North Coast Limited catapulted down a 100-foot embankment 15 miles northwest of Missoula.

Two of the olive-green passenger cars plunged all the way to the bottom, coming to rest in a ditch along U. S. Highway 93 and 10A.

The nose of one car smashed deep into the ditch, scooping up mud that buried Terese Anne Doores of Ekalaka, Mont. Terese, who would have been 3 June 30, was the first North Coast Limited passenger to be killed in 62 years.

Investigators are looking into the possibility of air brake failure. Reports from passengers and train personnel suggested the train was exceeding the 35-m.p.h. speed limit for the curve.

The train's speed recorder tape will be given to Interstate Commerce Commission investigators, a Northern Pacific official said at St. Paul, Minn. He wouldn't divulge what the recorder showed, except to say the record was a "good deal slower" than 100 m.p.h.

The derailment came a little more than three months after the same train, westbound, ran off the tracks and into a lake near Athol, Idaho. Two crewmen were killed in that wreck. Its cause is still a mystery.

Most of the passengers were sleeping or just awakening at 4:40 a. m. as the train crashed a mile short of a trestle that spans a 300-foot canyon.

The body of the Doores child was clawed out of the mud by a frantic woman. Another child buried.

Monarchists Among Dissidents Arrested

MADRID (AP)—Hundreds of opponents of Generalissimo Franco's dictatorship have been reported arrested in a sweeping roundup of dissidents of all political shades.

Five leading monarchists were caught in the dragnet as they returned from a meeting of Spanish oppositionists in Munich, Germany. Three of them refused an offer of exile and were flown today to forced residence in the Canary Islands. Two went into exile in Paris.

Those flown to Fuerte Ventura, second largest of the Canaries, were Joaquin de Sotomayor, an executive of the Spanish affiliate of the American-owned Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.; Fernando Alvarez de Miranda, 40, nephew of the Marquis of Valdivia and a Madrid city employee, and Jaime Miralles, member of a prominent old family.

Families of the three men said they were not allowed to visit them or speak to them after they were arrested during the weekend. Under a new decree they can be kept in forced residence for two years.

The monarchist who chose exile were Jose Maria Gil Robles and Jesus Prados Arrarte, a noted economist and professor at Madrid University.

Political observers said the opposition groups gave Franco the excuse he needed for a crackdown by holding the Munich meeting, which they labeled "ill-planned and ill-timed."

"By associating themselves with the left-wingers at Munich, the more moderate dissidents from the Franco regime, such as the monarchists, have permitted themselves to be tarred with the same brush as the Communists," said one expert.

Moslem Cops Open Fire In Algiers

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem auxiliary policemen today fired on Europeans near the Algiers dockyards, killing three and wounding six.

The uniformed Moslem policemen said Europeans attacked them and they shot back. Two Europeans riding in a truck near the scene of the shooting were seized and held as hostages.

A European police official said the Moslems, who were guarding a dockworkers' hiring point, opened fire without provocation on Europeans passing by.

Secret Army Organization commandos struck in a Sahara oil field Sunday in their "scorched earth" warfare but a Moslem nationalist leader said the terrorist fire power is fading.

Terrorist saboteurs blasted a well being drilled in the Sahara, about 60 miles south of the big Hassi Messaoud oil field, and set off a spectacular gas fire.

French officials expressed fears that the secret army, whose hard core now is believed to be largely French army deserters, would attempt to blow up dams, railroads and oil installations in their campaign to leave the country in ruins for the future Moslem leader.

Chavki Mostefai, a spokesman for the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), told newsmen Algeria's Europeans were turning

Archbishop Orders School Integrated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has ordered Atlanta archdiocesan schools desegregated this fall in a move supported by leading Catholic laymen and the mayor of Atlanta.

The historic decision applied to Catholic schools in the 17 north Georgia counties of the archdiocese where about 7,500 pupils are enrolled. The total includes 735 negroes, all in Atlanta.

Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan said it was up to local bishops elsewhere in the archdiocese province to decide what action to take in their areas. That included other sections of Georgia as well as North and South Carolina and Florida, all under the archbishop's titular control.

The desegregation decision was announced in a pastoral letter read during Sunday services in all the churches of the north Georgia archdiocese.

Channel Chatter

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Allen, the famous motion picture star, died a hero while rescuing his beloved wife from their burning home. So they took Billy back to Charity, Kan., where he grew up and where his parents still lived, for the funeral.

And it was in Charity, before the service, that we picked up Billy's story in "The Movie Star," Sunday night on NBC. It was an unpleasant, ghoulish tale.

Before 60 minutes had passed, we found that Billy's parents had never understood him—never really knew much about him, in fact. His marriage had long been a failure. Worse, Billy was a thoroughgoing heel. His heroism was a cover-up invented by his manager: the star was too drunk to escape his flaming home. His wife already had decided to leave him.

As the crowning touch, his sister-in-law, staggering drunk at memorial services, arose to scream that her child was Billy's —not that of the brother who had died a hero in Korea.

William Bast, who wrote this macabre play, apparently was attempting to recreate the tasteless atmosphere of carnival surrounding the funeral of a celebrity. They were all there, the souvenir-hunting kids, the cranks and the maniacs who entered into the spirit of it all.

That part was an interesting idea. But the basic device was hardly novel: revealing the real, unattractive person behind the facade of glamor in bits and pieces as the story progresses. The mob hysteria was subordinate to this.

Recommended tonight: "Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall," CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett in their two-woman show, in which they poke gentle fun at everything from Russian choral groups to Westerns.

Two Accident Victims Get Treatment at Hospital

Two accident victims were among those receiving emergency treatment at Warren General Hospital over the weekend. Robert E. Dalrymple, 17, fractured his clavicle when he was in an automobile accident Friday.

He is a resident of Sugar Grove RD 3.

The other was David A. Erikson, 18, son of Eugene Erikson of Russell RD 1. He was treated for generalized abrasions.

Georgene Mack, 17, sprained her ankle when she fell from a stool. She is the daughter of George A. Mack, 45 West Main St., Youngville.

Eight-year-old Kimberly Tome, daughter of Bryen Tome of 28 Maple St., fell at home and fractured her toe.

Stanley Lyle, 27, fractured his finger when he caught it between shears and a steel plate at work. He is a resident of 17 Third Ave., west.

Patricia Ceriola, 12-year-old daughter of Samuel Ceriola, 1804 Pennsylvania Ave west, lacerated her foot.

Twelve-year-old Thomas Wolf, son of Richard Wolf, 1105 Market St extension, fractured his ankle when he hit it on a rock while diving.

Among those being treated on Saturday was Clarence Martin, 66, of Russell RD 1, who was trampled by a cow. He incurred fractured ribs.

Leonhart Anderson, 57, of 110 Grant St., injured his wrist when a jack slipped on it.

Building Trades Strike Shuts Down Corry Jobs

CORRY — A second Corry construction project has been shut down by the strike of Erie County Building Trade unions.

Shut down until the dispute is settled is the expansion program of the Erie County Plastics Corp. at North Corry. The first project halted was the National Bank of Corry building.

Strikers are demanding three increases of 1 cent each year for the next three years. They have been offered a 30 - cent package increase on a 10 - 10 - 10 arrangement.

Some observers feel that the strike may last as long as three months, virtually rupturing the county's 1962 construction. More than $1,000,000 in construction has been shut down by the union laborers.

shrubbery planted. The property is adjacent to the physician's home and office.

The wooden part of the L-shaped structure is reported to have been built in 1863. The newer brick portion was added in 1892.

May Lose State Aid

SALAMANCA — State Comptroller Arthur D. Levitt has threatened to cut off $52,942 in a state aid for Salamanca on the grounds that the city exceeded its constitutional tax limit.

A show - cause order indicates that the city, "through its duly elected and appointed officers," has levied taxes on real estate in the amount of $489,474.69, or an excess of $52,942.75 over its legal limit of $436,531.94.

Ruling a Headache

ERIE — A ruling that will provide extra revenues for county assessment office was handed down Friday at a commissioners' meeting.

The solicitor ruled that assessment on new construction or improvements must be made immediately upon request of a county school district. Ordinarily this would be done during regularly specified assessment periods — a building completed this month would not be put on the tax rolls until 1963.

Service Interrupted

BRADFORD — Power and telephone service was temporarily interrupted Sunday night by a severe electrical storm in the city and surrounding areas.

Bell Telephone Co. repairmen were immediately pressed into service, and all phones were back in working order early today.

Penelec repairmen also were also called to action to repair blown fuses that caused some isolated power failures.

Laurel Queen Named

BROOKVILLE — The Western Pennsylvania Laurel Festival will be marked by a week of activities from horse shows to ballroom dancing from June 17 to 23.

A Laurel Queen will be crowned, and the annual Laurel Festival parade will be held Saturday, June 23.

Indians Accept Offer

SALAMANCA — The Seneca Nation of Indians voted to accept Friday $6,500 in payment of 28.69 acres needed by the State Department of Public Works in widening Route 17 from Vandalia to Killbuck.

Three state representatives said a previous figure of $5,740 had been authorized, but they will seek approval of the new figure.

The Indian council also voted with certain exceptions, to certify property maps for the area, below the 1,365 foot level to be taken by the Allegheny Reservoir.

Eight Are Injured

ERIE — Eight persons were injured yesterday when a car collided with a fire truck returning from a fire caused by lightning during the afternoon thunderstorm.

Four firemen, reported shaken up, were treated at St. Vincent Hospital and released.

Listed in satisfactory condition at the hospital is Clarence R. Hansen, 18, fractured ribs; in fair condition is Jean Mongiello, 17, face and head cuts. Donna Marie Pietrasiewicz, 18, cuts and bruises, was admitted to Erie Osteopathic Hospital for observation.

Philip Anderson, 22, is in satisfactory condition in Hamot Hospital with a broken right leg and multiple cuts.

Hansen, driver of the car, was charged with running a stop sign.

Ask 'Consideration'

LITTLE VALLEY — The town of Elko, faced with possible extinction with the creation of the Allegheny Reservoir and expansion of Allegheny State Park, has asked for some consideration by state and federal governments. An Elko Town Board resolution points out to Cattaraugus County Supervisors that the federal government has ignored non-Indian citizens and has only shown interest in the plight of the Seneca Indian nation.

Baby Boy Strangles

ERIE — An 11-month-old boy who shared a bed with several other children died yesterday morning, a victim of apparent strangulation.

The investigating coroner said that the infant was asleep in the same bed with at least three or four other children. It is believed that the child rolled over and caught his head between the mattress and the bed itself and strangled when his feet couldn't reach the floor.

Speech Institute For HS Students Set by Penn State

High school students will have an opportunity to combine academic training with campus-living experience at the Summer High School Speech Institute to be conducted by Penn State University July 1-6.

The institute offers a week of intensive study which will include the area of effective communication, debate-discussion, oral interpretation and radio-TV.

The program will include lecture-discussion, workshops, observation of university speech classes, and the opportunity for individual conferences with faculty members.

The faculty for the institute will be primarily university professors, with some outstanding high school teachers completing the group.

Information regarding the institute may be obtained by writing to The Conference Center, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.

Woman Patient Is Missing From Hospital

A 64-year-old woman patient at Warren State Hospital failed to return to the hospital Friday and is believed to be in the Erie area.

A hospital spokesman said the woman could not be considered dangerous, but because of threatening gestures in the past, should be back at the hospital.

The patient, with several others, went shopping Friday afternoon and when the others assembled to return, she was missed.

According to normal procedure in such cases, hospital officials notified the Erie police and State Police from the Warren sub-station.

The patient, according to hospital officials had been a former Erie resident before coming to the hospital in 1956.

When last seen she was wearing a gray and black checked coat and a green and beige print dress. She is reported to be five feet one inch and weighs about 150 pounds.

32 Attend Golden Age Meeting in Sheffield

SHEFFIELD — Thirty-two members attended the meeting of Golden Age Society, with Mrs. Walter Hoyer presiding.

The program included group singing accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Hahn; accordion selections played by John O'Donnish; banjo selections, Mrs. Grosch; "Days When We Were Young," and "In the Shadow of the Pine," sung by William Duck of Kane; "Eldeweiss Glide Waltz," piano solo, Mrs. Hahn.

PICTURES of maps dating back to 1749 showing tanneries, George Wood mill, CPL mill, and three railroads, were shown by Bruce Smith.

Members were reminded to have the flag on display for the coming holiday. They were reminded, also, the July meeting has been cancelled and the next meeting is August 2.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gust Gustafson, Mrs. Raymond Loomis and Mrs. Clyde Loomis.

FIFTY children were enrolled in the Bethany Lutheran Church Vacation Bible School, with Mrs. Robert Moore leading the classes. Teachers and helpers are Mrs. Russell Olson, Joan Benson, Rita Zevotek, Mrs. Jesse Johnson, Carla Burgason, Carrie Carlson, Judy Benson, Mabel Carlson, Candy Larson, Mrs. Michael Steffan, Mavis Ralston, Avanel Hart.

Hollywood Reporting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The sign on the dressing room suite read "The Great One," so you knew it had to belong to Jackie Gleason.

Inside you were greeted by members of the Gleason staff and ushered into the presence of the man himself. He was sitting in a corner, his barrel shape wrapped in a white terry-cloth robe. He was drinking—coffee.

"Never drink booze on the job," he explained. "But afterwards—watch out!"

Gleason was at Paramount for "Papa's Delicate Condition," his first Hollywood film in a dozen years. The circumstances are somewhat different this time.

"That last one was called 'Desert Hawk,' and it was a lulu," he recounted. "Tell you how I got the job.

"I went to see the producer and he was having a pedicure. I want you to know. He was saying, 'Watch out, Mildred, how you cut the big toe,' while I was trying to tell him what a great Arab I would make.

"Finally he said, 'Can you ride?' I said I could ride like the wind—I had never been on a horse in my life. He said, 'Can you duel?' I said I was a whiz at fencing—I didn't know the first thing about it.

"Then he said, 'You can't have the job.' I said 'Why not?' and he said, 'Because you got blue eyes, and Arabs don't have blue eyes.'

"I said, 'Then you're in trouble, Bud, because your leading man is Richard Greene, and he has two of the bluest eyes I've ever seen!'

"The guy was really worried and he called up research and said, 'See if there are any Arabs with blue eyes.' The answer came back that there may be two or three Arabs somewhere with blue eyes. So he told me I could have the job.

"I never got close enough to the camera for anyone to see my eyes. Most of the time I was peeking around Rock Hudson."

Such was Gleason's first movie career. He did six films in the '40s, including "Orchestra Wives" and "Navy Blues."

"Most of the time I was playing with scene-stealers like Jack Oakie, Martha Raye, Peter Lorre and Edward Everett Horton," he recalled. "I never had a chance."

His second time around is another matter. He got an Oscar nomination for "The Hustler." His "Gigot" and "Requiem for a Heavyweight" are highly touted. And now "Papa's Delicate Condition."

One of Papa's delicate conditions in the film is that he nips, and Gleason admitted the casting was apt. He gave his philosophy on the grape:

"If you don't know why you're drinking, you're in trouble. I've always drunk for one reason only: To get smashed."

"As I told Arthur Godfrey once, drinking can remove warts, wrinkles, pimples and other blemishes. Not on yourself—on other people."

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEARABBY: Should a clergyman phone in advance of visiting? No. There is too much tidying up and making coffee which turns a minister's call into a social affair when it is intended for deeper than social purposes. I've checked with three other ministers and three housewives and they are all in favor of the unannounced call from the clergy.

Sincerely,
Reverend Earl Rodman
(Methodist Minister, Dike, Iowa.)

DEAR ABBY: I think people have a right to advance notice when a visitor comes, no matter who that visitor may be. People like to be received with kindness and in a becoming manner, and surprise visits do not always permit this. Courtesy should be made easy for a hostess instead of offering a sudden challenge to her ability to receive guests graciously.

Yours sincerely,
(St. Patrick's Cathedral, Eau Claire, Wis.)
The Rev. Monsignor J.F. Brady

DEAR ABBY: A clergyman, however well motivated, presumes too much when he thinks his visit is always welcome under all and any circumstances. A visit is always more welcome when the hostess has an opportunity to prepare herself. The informal, drop-in type visit sounds folksy and charming, but it is anything but that. In any well-ordered busy household it's an arrogant nuisance. The unexpected visit went out with the quilting bee.

Very Truly yours,
Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz,
Washington, D. C.

DEAR ABBY: If I had to wait until I was INVITED, how many homes do you think I would get into? Have you ever tried to phone a dozen people in one day, with a mind to get into their homes, that is? Pastors should not be put in the same category with salesmen, campaigners, census-takers and strangers. I enjoy your column—most of the time.

PASTOR

DEAR ABBY: My Dad is a Baptist preacher and I know for a fact that preachers do not have time to call everyone they visit. If people are doing something they want to cover up from the preacher, what are they going to do when Jesus comes?

PREACHER'S DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: Do you know the average clergyman works 14 hours a day, including Saturdays and Sunday? He makes calls between sermon preparations, meetings, civic work, classes, weddings, funerals, hospital calls and counseling. Everyone thinks his clergyman has nothing to do. How in the world do you expect him to telephone on Tuesday to warn Mrs. X to clean house for Thursday? Besides, a clergyman wants to find the REAL person, not an artificial dressed-up one. Why should he drive himself into a nervous breakdown just to satisfy some house-proud woman?

Mentally Retarded Face A 'More Secure' Future

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—There's a more secure future unfolding for Pennsylvania's mentally retarded in a relatively new approach to their education in the public schools.

Increasing numbers of them each year are being trained, while in school, for full-time jobs in their communities.

This is the so-called work-school program, under which mentally retarded, when they reach the age of 15, spend one-half day in school and one-half day in employment (unpaid).

Between 400 and 450 children participated in the program this year, reports Dr. Kathryn L. Dice, director of the Bureau of Special Services in the Department of Public Instruction, and that number is expected to rise another 200 next school year.

The program was pioneered six years ago in the Altoona school system. Its success there led gradually to its development on a state wide basis.

Dr. Dice says about 19 counties included work-school training this year in their programs for the mentally retarded.

In some areas, she notes, there is a waiting list of employers wanting to participate.

In fact, some schools have reported difficulty retaining youngsters who have proven competent enough to go into full-time employment immediately, without waiting for graduation.

More significantly, she feels, the work-school experience has won for the mentally retarded "recognition that the worth of an individual can be measured in terms of his production and relationship with others as significantly as in terms of his academic progress."

They have refuted a long-held assumption, she reports, that the mentally retarded child was handicapped in manual skills as well as mental ability.

They have proven that the mentally retarded may possess manual skills that equal or surpass such skills in children with normal IQs.

The work-school program underscores the trend among the administrators of special education programs to find a place in the regular school system for the mentally and physically handicapped.

It is estimated that there were nearly 134,000 handicapped children in special programs this school year, but only about 10,500 of them are in institutions or confined to their homes.

Handicap, under the state school code, can be interpreted broadly and can include children with only slight handicaps.

For instance, some $1,000 of the handicapped children are those with speech defects. This is the most common handicap among children entering school. The public school system provides speech therapists to help the young student overcome this defect.

The mentally retarded, however still, represents a large segment of the handicapped school population (some 37,000).

The physically handicapped, the blind and partially blind, and the deaf or those with hearing defects, contribute about 2,600.

Pennsylvania's commitment to provide these 134,000 children with a fair chance of achieving security goes back to 1928.

But real impetus to the movement has come only in the last 10 years. At the start of the decade, there were 12,888 children enrolled in programs for the handicapped.

It is estimated there were 133,900 this year.

Dr. Dice feels that the rapid growth in the past year, which has placed Pennsylvania among the leading states in these categories of special education, has demonstrated the results that can be obtained when groups on several levels—administrators, legislators, educators, parents and citizens in general—fuse a cooperative effort to meet a public need.

Reading, Study Courses for Pupils Going to College Are Set Here

A comprehensive reading and study improvement course for high school graduates entering college this fall will be given this summer at Warren Area High School, it has been announced by William Mosso, Continuing Education Services, Behrend Campus, Erie.

It will commence June 25 and consist of 30 sessions of 80 minutes each, five days per week. Classes will be held in the morning. There will be no class July 4.

The course will be conducted by John A. Gates, a member of the teaching staff of the Emporium school system.

Emphasis is placed on an analysis of problems in reading, study skills and language habits. Special attention is given to writing, outlining, note-taking, preparing for examinations and taking examinations.

The course does not emphasize speed reading for the sake of speed alone. A textbook is not meant to be read as fast as a novel, Mosso says, noting that efficient reading and study is the answer to the problem of most college students.

An evaluation report will be made for each student by the instructor at the conclusion of the course, with suggestions about phases of his work on which he needs to concentrate in the future. It is not a credit course.

First offered last year, the course was found to fill a very definite educational need, Mosso says. Students taking it, he emphasizes, benefit to the degree to which they devote their own time and energy to practicing what they learn. They are treated as adults and expected to do the recommended reading and other assignments.

The course may also be taken by high school juniors upon authorization of their guidance counselor or principal indicating they are planning on a college career. College freshmen are also welcome; last year several enrolled in the course and found that they were much better prepared for the following term.

Further information may be obtained by writing or calling Mosso at the Behrend Campus.

Editorial...

Into Obsolescence?

One of the major problems of American industry today is the way in which heavy machinery is quickly becoming obsolete.

Winston Churchill, in a debate long ago on the state of the London docks, warned Commons that "They already are obsolescent and will soon obsolesce into obsolescence."

This could very well be the position of some American heavy industry. The machines are wear-out. The development of new techniques is making others rapidly obsolete.

You cannot make a profit with worn-out machines, or with machines which require a more complicated process than your competitors are using.

Labor gets a good deal of blame for high prices, high costs and the poor American position in the world market. However this is not necessarily the case. Labor costs are, to be sure, high. But it is worn out and outworn machinery which also is costing American manufacturers money and time.

This is especially true of old-line firms that have been going for 50 or 60 years, or more. The machines that Grandpa used to start the company with are no longer adequate, although they are being used. But Grandpa could afford the less efficient machines because labor, in his time, was much cheaper. But Grandson, trying to keep the old foundry or factory going, has found he can no longer afford the luxury of maintaining these techniques.

Business understands this problem and so does labor. However it requires money—lots of it—to replace big machines. Stamping presses, brakes, dies and other items cost a lot of cash. Where's it coming from?

There is an answer: Tax relief for plants that wish to modernize.

President Kennedy's domestic policy has not always met with our approval. However, a recent move of his to grant some measure of tax relief to the manufacturer who wants to modernize his plant seems to us a wise move. It is pump-priming of the proper kind. It is the sort of economic thinking which creates more jobs, more products and, in the end, more tax revenue.

That the President is perhaps using this as a means of abating the anger of certain businessmen hit sharply by his crackdown on steel is not germane to this issue. His political motives may be dubious, but the results are good.

To be sure, this is pragmatism, but it is the productive kind.

It is, in the longrun, the only American answer to the cheaper labor abroad. We can, if we try, do it better—and still keep up our standard of living.

Otherwise it is entirely possible that this whole nation — or its industrial heart — will be allowed to obsolesce into obsolescence.

Der Junge und Die Alten

We have in European-American politics today a strange contrast. On one had we have President Kennedy, a young man as statesmen go. On the other we have two old men, Chancellor Adenauer and President de Gaulle. This is youth versus age. Der Junge against die Alten.

Both Adenauer and De Gaulle are wise in politics. One of them tended his garden and stayed out of trouble the terrible winds of totalitarianism swept over his nation. This is no mean accomplishment, especially for a man of ability. Hiding one's light under a bushel in time of storm must be admired. The other old man, De Gaulle, became a national hero — and a bit of a bugbear—as leader of the freedom movement in his country. At the same time, a young PT boat commander was doing his bit in the Pacific.

All three of them now are faced with the problem of patching up the fragments of Europe. But Kennedy's dynamic approach is often tempered by the elderly caution of die Alten. And his altruistic purposes are sometimes blunted by the old, old national prejudices of the old ones. The Germans were a people and the French a nation when Mr. Kennedy's ancestors were still living in mud huts on a foggy island and worshipping at the standing stones of Druidism. And his own roots are planted in a country whose whole history is only a moment in the long day of European development.

It is not an easy problem to resolve: Youth against age—in the men and in the nations.

That it must be resolved is obvious.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secret Weapon: Buchwald

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Jock Whitney, publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, is really enjoying his feud with the White House. And he has a "secret weapon" which he says he will import to Washington to get even with John F. Kennedy for canceling those 22 subscriptions to his newspaper.

Whitney, who married the ex-wife of congressman James Roosevelt and was a $62,000 contributor to Eisenhower's 1956 campaign, has come back from being Ike's ambassador to the Court of St. James to take active supervision of the No. 1 Republican newspaper of New York. And he now plans to transfer Art Buchwald, caustic columnist on Europe, from Paris to Washington.

Buchwald is coming to Washington this month to look for a house, and should be settled in the nation's capital with his typewriter leveled at the Kennedy Administration by September.

During the Eisenhower administration, Buchwald's description of Jim Hagerty's operation in Paris caused Jim to blow his top. Whitney now intends to test the "top-blowing" level, not only to Pierre Salinger but on the President.

A classic political test—whether it's better politics to represent the moneyed interests or the workingman—will be decided in the heart of the old confederacy when South Carolina goes to the polls next week.

On one side is a senior member of the U. S. Senate, Olin Johnston, who began life as a worker in a cotton mill and whom the late Gov. Max Gardner of North Carolina cited during the war as an example of what we were fighting for—the right of the son of a workingman to rise to the top.

On the other side is Gov. Ernest Hollings, bright, young, acid-tongued, with an unabashed record of battling against labor.

Political observers all over the country can take a cue from the South Carolina outcome to see whether the candidate of labor or management has the greatest voter appeal.

No two men could be more unlike than Hollings and Johnston. Gov. Hollings is the businessman's candidate, talks the part and dresses the part. He is just as much at home in the clubs along wall street as on the Hustings of South Carolina, probably more so. He is also quite at home during the cocktail hour, and some of his critics in the drier portions of South Carolina have been critical of this.

In any event, his kind of talk has pleased the tycoons, especially in Texas, and they have been pumping television money into his campaign.

Senator Johnston, in contrast, is portly and courtly, speaks with a slow southern drawl, loves ham, serves hominy grits for breakfast every day of his life, never takes a drink, and once brought screams from the breweries because he got cheap postal rates for temperance organizations.

Despite his unassuming air and homey background, Johnston has rolled up more seniority than any other Senator, with the exception of three or four. He has almost a life or death power over post offices, postmasterships, the rate of postage stamps, and the Civil Service of the United States.

The Svelte and handsome Hollings makes no bones about his support for the right-to-work laws—an anti-labor stand that has hurt candidates in most other elections. He has been caught in equivocation, however, about his failure to vote on this issue when a member of the state legislature. At that time he was absent for 17 roll calls on the right-to-work bill. Eight years ago, he tried to win labor support by citing this absenteeism.

These Days

Looking Backward

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

In the discussions about Cuba and Indonesia, Laos and elsewhere, it is clear that the State Department, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, developed a concept that there were good dictators and bad dictators, honest men and dishonest men and that political judgements were to be based upon such psychological considerations.

This is brought out most clearly in a memorandum dated March 9, 1943, signed by John Davies, Jr., the Second Secretary of the American Embassy in China. Discussing the Stilwell Mission to China, Davies wrote:

"We recognized before Dec. 7, 1941 that China was endeavoring to get us to fight its battle against Japan. There has been no reason for a change in this Chinese attitude and there has in fact been no change, despite the disillusioning shock of Pearl Harbor which struck the Chinese with as great force as it did us."

This was written on March 9, 1943. The Chinese had been fighting the Japanese since 1931. The Japanese had taken Manchuria and the major commercial port of Shanghai. China had stood alone for 10 years until the United States entered the war. Beseet by Communist activities, supported by Russia, China had fought valiantly and unconquered.

But Davies wrote:

"We have not bled enough for the liking of the Russians, the British or the Chinese. With political considerations looming so large in the calculations they are each fighting not only the common enemies but also, in a negative fashion, their allies."

What allies did China really have in 1943? Could she have regarded the Russians as allies, knowing that for centuries it had been Russians policy to conquer China? Chiang Kai-shek would have been a fool had he not realized that in the war against Japan, he would have no ally in Soviet Russia. And the fact is that Russia never came into the Far Eastern War until it was really over and then came in, for about a week, for the kill.

Davies also made a great discovery: "A second fundamental difficulty confronting General Stilwell is that, in addition to his professional military task, he is involved, whether he likes it or not, in Chinese domestic politics."

Davies also wrote:

"In his efforts to short-circuit domestic politics, General Stilwell has as much as possible dealt directly with the Generalissimo. But the Generalissimo maintains his paramount position as he attained it — through political manipulation. He is not a dictator. He has no absolute over-all command. He manipulates a delicate and shifting balance of power. So there is no one with sure and final authority with whom General Stilwell can deal."

"General Stilwell's task was to win the war. That is what he was sent to China to do. But he really set out to change China. The Chinese people have no concept of self-government. China had never been a national state. It was, in effect, a vast congregation of local self-governments — of village self-governments. Whereas the Emperor possessed great authority, the village was much like a New England township. If a man were asked what he belonged to, he would say Canton or Ningpo or some such place. It has always taken the finest diplomacy to hold China together. I do not mean only during the regime of Chiang Kai-shek, but throughout the history of the country.

It is possible to go on quoting Davies line by line to indicate an intellectual arrogance. Not even Mao Tze-tung has been able to change China. Davies wrote:

"China is badly in need of the Puritan spirit. The Chinese have not produced it themselves excepting, in a modified form, in the Generalissimo. If the Chinese Army is to be regenerated, it must be through General Stilwell. What he says sometimes stings the Chinese. But it has not gone wholly unappreciated. More than a score of high-ranking Chinese officers have come to him privately telling him that he was doing China a great service by his forthrightness, that he is needed, and to keep on going straight down the road. And as has been said, even his political enemies have been impressed by what he has in six months produced at Ramgarh. He may yet perform what has seemed impossible — If it happens it will have been on a one-man achievement."

And that is what policy was based on!

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Times

The United States, toughened and tried by six months of large-scale defensive warfare since Pearl Harbor, now seems to have wrested the initiative from Japan in the battle of the Pacific.

Thousands of Pennsylvania youngsters, winding up nine months of work in the classrooms, are about to tackle war jobs in factories and on the farm.

Mrs. Samuel Chesnut, district deputy, and Mrs. Sheridan Brown, worthy matron, left yesterday to spend a week in Pittsburgh for the 48th annual session of the Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

The Rev. Martin Hamlin, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, announced today approximately 50 students enrolled this morning for the Daily Vacation Bible School.

The Republican convention arrangements committee opens a two-day session today in Chicago, with strong support reported developing for selection of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as convention keynoter.

The potato shortage was caused by the "blundering incompetence" of the Office of Price Stabilization, says Sen. Edward Martin.

In less than two weeks, girls of Warren-Forest Girl Scout Council will be at Camp Birdsall Edey. Over 375 girls of a goal of 600 have already registered.

Officers and employees of Warren Bank and Trust Company gathered in the banking rooms to honor Earl D. Bartlett, veteran employee, the occasion being his 83rd birthday anniversary.

How To Keep Well

By DR. THEODORE Van DELLEN

Shelter living during nuclear warfare will present many problems with which the average American is not familiar. You may be forced to share a confined space with children, pregnant women, injured persons, the elderly and the chronically ill. You may have the best equipped shelter in the community but don't bank on having a physician to attend to the needs of the occupants.

On the second day, Mrs. Jones may go into labor and everyone knows nothing will stop or delay this process. Since necessity is the mother of invention, some one must help—and a little knowledge will come in handy.

Meanwhile, several of the diabetics are having difficulty because they forget their insulin or antidiabetic pills. Johnny develops food poisoning or measles; Mr. Angino has a heart attack and Joe Duodenum a flareup of his peptic ulcer.

By the fifth day some of the wounds received by the injured have become discolored, painful, and swollen—obviously infected. Several of the shelter occupants are hysterical or talking to themselves; they have reached the breaking point and are difficult to control.

The question of radiation will enter the conversation. Symptoms of radiation sickness would appear within a few hours after the attack and last a variable length of time, depending upon the severity of the exposure.

There is only one solution to the problem of shelter living. A large segment of our population must learn the principles of first aid and a do-it-yourself medical program.

The American Medical association and the United States public health service have taken the initiative and are sponsoring the Medical Self-Help Training program. This plan is expanding rapidly; training kits have been prepared, providing a 14 hour course on a variety of emergency measures.

The topics are presented in nontechnical terms and include data on hygiene, sanitation, shock, bleeding, bandaging, nursing care of the sick, emergency childbirth, and other problems. This is civil defense at the grass roots level.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

N. R. writes: How do you stop a nosebleed?

REPLY—The bleeder should sit up, if he is not too weak. Apply cold wet towels over the face, nose, and back of the head and neck. Pinch the nostrils together. Encourage the individual not to talk, cough, blow his nose, or walk about. He should breathe through the mouth. Severe or prolonged nosebleeds calls for a physician's care.

Mrs. A. G. writes: Please explain spina bifida occulta.

REPLY—The spinal canal usually is surrounded by bone but in this condition, the bony process or arch is incompletely formed. The defect is present at birth and nothing need be done because the spinal chord and nerves do not protrude (oculta) through the open arch.

P. M. writes: What causes a person to get laughing spells after drinking too much?

REPLY—Alcohol affects some people this way; it is annoying to the group but much better than belligerent or bellowing behavior.

H. P. writes: Is it necessary for psychiatrists to be psycho-analyzed before they start practicing?

REPLY—No. Many psychiatrists are not analysts.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a m.p.h. would cause insanity. How they got started: William Gibson, who wrote the Anne Bancroft film vehicle, "The Miracle Worker," used to play piano in beer parlors before he won success as a playwright.

Prosperity note: Only about one of every 20 workers is unemployed today. But in depression-ridden 1933, one in every four was jobless.

Odd legislation: A Midwest community once made it illegal for a woman weighing more than 200 pounds to wear shorts while riding.

To the Editor—

Being a subscriber to the Times-Mirror, I noted with keen interest your item some days ago concerning the recently published novel by Roger W. Gardner, a former assistant secretary of the Warren Y.M.C.A. Lest his many Warren friends should be misdirected in endeavoring to obtain copies of the book, which was published by the Vantage Press in New York, may I give the correct title, which is GROVER'S DAM and not Griver's, as was erroneously stated.

I might add for the benefit of his Warren friends, who would desire to communicate with him that the present address of Mr. Gardner is the Y.M.C.A., 1421 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

AMERICAN CUCKOOS NEVER CUCKOO—THEY ONLY UTTER GUTTURAL CLUCKS

Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is glamor girl, Gina Lollobrigida.)

GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA WRITES
Long before these days of wobbly stock markets, I decided that Anita Loos was right. Diamonds are a girl's best friend—and emeralds, and rubies and pearls. After all, there are only so many of them around, and based upon the law of supply and demand, an investment in them is wise.

Once a woman has reached this conclusion, she must then understand that buying precious gems is easier said than done. It is most important that you be armed with the proper education and training. You must recognize the difference between Cartier, Tiffany, Harry Winston, Van Cleef & Arpels, Buccalatti, and Bulgari; you must be steeped in the family history of outstanding gems—who owned them, who bought them, where they are now, and have they been dismantled to make smaller stones. You naturally know the various grades of each stone, what a carat is, and how a stone is cut. Equally important is that you understand the insurance business, taxes, and custom duties and regulations.

I must admit I have a passion for emeralds. Big ones. And some of my most fascinating days in New York, Rome, Paris, London and Madrid were spent comparing shopping for emeralds. This demands a stern mathematical background that enables you to immediately translate dollars into lire into pesetas into francs into pounds without benefit of pencil or paper—even though you're baffled by the family checkbook. I just hope the Common Market takes this into consideration since you must also be aware of who is devaluing what and when.

Comparison shopping entails quite a bit of psychology, I mean, after all, you know that the salesman at such august institutions like Tiffany are just not like anyone else. They are captured by boredom, and a poker face while they quote staggering prices. At the same time you must insulate, ever so carefully, the fact that at Cartier the price seems to be a bit more reasonable. This does not have a particularly noticeable effect but believe me it's there. They know they're not dealing with a casual, inexperienced shopper. It's a toe-to-toe encounter.

TO husbands who may be reeling at the thought of their wives indulging in this pastime, I would like to say that it is harmless. After all, it's not as if you were shopping for a dress. A woman can always find that, so therefore money is spent immediately. But days, months, and years can go by before you find the right gem. Hence, no money is spent but your wife will have received a great deal of pleasure. When she does find that perfect gem—you're on your own. I will not betray my sex. Think up your own arguments of disuasion.

I remember one marvelous day in Madrid when I found a joyeria (that's Spanish for jeweler—you learn languages this way, too) that had a lovely oval room furnished with antiques and two inch thick carpeting. Inset in the wall most stunning gems. But the piece de resistance came when the salesman peered around the room to make sure no one else was present, went to the wall, and pushed a button. Voila! The individual display cases opened slowly, and behind each of them were exquisite gems, many that had belonged to King Farouk and his And the emeralds! Magnificent! That discovery sustained me all through the six months' shooting of "Solomon and Sheba." I would make periodic trips to that salon, gazing longingly at those enormous emeralds. Naturally, I told my husband what I had discovered, and imagine my surprise when Milko presented me with a beautiful emerald ring on our tenth wedding anniversary!

FOR the past two years my project has been looking for earrings to match my beautiful ring. It has given me great pleasure but it hasn't been easy, and I'm still looking. I have salesmen throughout the world with eyes peeled. When they find something they think I'd like, off I go to examine it. So far, nothing has been exactly right.

However, the other day I heard of a woman in northern Italy who supposedly has a magnificent pair of earrings. And just as soon as I finish "Imperial Venus," I just might take a trip there to see them. You just never know where you'll find what you're looking for.

Blind Hole Match Winners Reported

Eight prizes were awarded for the Thursday blind hole handicap tournament for Blueberry Hill women golfers, with ladies playing.

The first prize was presented to Mrs. Marvin Loper, second Mrs. Arthur Marceca; and Mrs. Richard Campbell.

Those presented with low net awards were Mrs. Gu Grimaldi, Mrs. Robert Beltz and Mrs. Walter Grimes.

Low putts awarded to Mrs. Marvin Loper and Mrs. Homer Culbertson, each with 15.

Late Summer Bride

Mr. and Mrs.ville Hummel, Summerville, announce the engagement of the daughter, Barbara Joanne, to Robert C. Cannon of New Bethlehem, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Capon, Warren.

The bride-elect is a 1958 graduate of Brookville High School and completed her training at West Penn Hospital School of Nursing in 1961. She is presently employed in the office of Drs. A. R. and O. V. McKelvey in Brookville.

Mr. Cannon, graduate of Warren High School and Clarion State College is faculty member at the New Bethlehem School.

An August wedding is being planned for the couple.

Is Candidate For Degree at Conservatory

Carolynn E. Anderson, a graduate of Warren Area High School in 1958 and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Anderson of Russell St., will receive a Bachelor of Music degree, with a major in music education and minor in piano and pipe organ, from Oberlin College Conservatory of Music today.

Miss Anderson spent her junior year studying at the Mozarteum Academy of Music in Salzburg, Austria. She was selected as a delegate to the International Music Educators' Conference in Vienna, Austria, in May, 1961.

During her college career, she has been active in the Music Education Club, serving as secretary on several project committees. She was a member of the College choir and accompanied many soloists in recitals and auditions.

Accompanying her parents to the graduation events was Dorothy J. Anderson, a junior student at Penn State University, majoring in elementary education and psychology.

After spending the summer at home in Warren, working at the playgrounds, Miss Anderson will be employed in Connetquot, Long Island, N. Y., as a vocal music supervisor in public schools.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY ALBAUGH

Michigan Church Setting For Albaugh-Leffel Rites

CLARENDON—Judy Leffel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leffel of Greenville, Mich., and Larry Albaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Montore of 28 High St., Clarendon, exchanged marriage vows June 2 in the Chapel of First Congregational Church in Greenville.

The Rev. Richard L. Ford performed the double ring ceremony. THE bride selected a ballerina-length gown of white silk organza over satin, styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands.

Her shoulder-length veil of French illusion was attached to a pearl-trimmed cap which came to a point over the forehead. She completed her bridal ensemble with an arrangement of white Sweetheart roses, ivy sprays and knotted ribbon streamers.

THE matron of honor and only attendant was Mrs. Richard Graft of Saginaw, Mich. She wore a ballerina gown of light blue satin and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Guests were seated by Glenn House Jr. and Mr. Graft and the best man was Dale Reinke.

THE reception for 50 relatives and friends attending the wedding followed in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Glenn W. House were master and mistress of ceremonies and the wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Larry Carbonelli. Aides were Mrs. Michael Buchholz, Lakeview, and Mrs. JoAnn Sedroski of Pontiac.

The bride attended University of Michigan and Central Michigan University. The newlyweds will reside in Mobile, Ala., where Mr. Albaugh is a commercial artist.

Shawky Pupils Present Recital

Parents and friends were invited to attend the piano recital presented in the Woman's Club by pupils of Alice B. Shawkey.

Perfect time and expression were emphasized by the instructor, who said difficult runs were performed by the pupils with ease and clarity.

Variety was provided in a trio by Nancy, Alisa and Richard Cook and a duet played by Nancy and Alisa Cook.

Other students heard were Mary Ellen Endress, Marcia Gustafson, Theresa and Anita Marceca, Dean Maniakas, Carol Ann Gagliardi, Amy Scalise, James Keller, Annette DiPierro, Jane Musante, Diane Noto, Cynthia Fadale, Beverly Johnson, Judae Scalise, Linda Johnson, Susan Gustafson, Sandra McCauslin, Lee Ann Kestler, Gloria Hahn and Charles Musante.

Several others, Christina Nelson, James and Richard Brecht, Patricia Ann Simmons, were unable to appear.

Q. Does the person who suffers a mental breakdown and then recovers remember the period of his illness?

A. No general statement is possible. However, in certain specific disorders, memory gaps are quite common. Time seems to stop when the patient becomes ill. With recovery it is difficult for him to accept the calendar date and his increased years. Patients frequently must adjust to the fact that they are ten or twenty years older than they remember themselves to be. These are indeed "lost years."

Jean Wolz and Richard M. Smith Wed in Baden Methodist Church

A candlelight ceremony on June 2 in the Methodist Church in Baden, Pa., united in marriage Jean Wolz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wolz of Baden, and Richard M. Smith II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Smith of 30 North State St., North Warren.

The Rev. H. F. Roney officiated for the double ring service at 7:30 p. m., candelabra, ferns and palms forming the altar setting. Mrs. Robert Wagoner was at the organ for the wedding music.

CARRYING a cascade bouquet of calla lilies, the bride was attired in white pure silk peau de soie, styled with a bodice of Chantilly lace. An illusion veil completed her ensemble.

She was presented in marriage by her father and had as her honor attendant her sister, Janet Wolz. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Wyant, Edinboro, and Oragene Malay of Ambridge.

THE maid of honor wore blue silk shantung with lace bodice and matching hat. The others were

A lawn party has been planned at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Segel, 20 Redwood St., to highlight the Warren campaign for the sale of Israel Bonds.

The affair is scheduled at 9 p. m. Wednesday and will feature Miss Shirley Friedman, song stylist and humorist, in a program of entertainment.

MISS Friedman, whose home is in Pittsburgh, has achieved popularity for her "one-woman show" performances at leading clubs throughout the nation, including the Ankara in Pittsburgh and the Theatrical Club in Cleveland.

During World War II she toured many parts of the world while entertaining servicemen with the USO. Following this tour of duty she starred on her own radio program and has since maintained a continually heavy schedule of supper club appearances from coast to coast.

IN addition to her talents as a vocalist and comedienne, Miss Friedman is an accomplished pianist and composer. She frequently appears before organizations and club groups in many parts of the country.

The lawn party will be the major function of the Warren Israel Bond drive.

Funds derived from Israel Bond sales provide for the economic development of the State of Israel, including housing for new immigrants, the growth of industry and agriculture, the expansion of irrigation, the construction of roads, harbors and railways, the increase of electric power, and the exploitation of natural resources.

Pompeian Courtyard Design Feature of Garden Walk Home

One of the beauty spots included in the Garden Walk planned Wednesday by Warren Garden Club is the home and gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart J. Myers, 511 Market St.

Since the house is based on the design of a Pompeian courtyard home, the shape and location of the gardens were planned with the home, the garden becoming an integral part of the house instead of landscaping around it.

TWIN-walled patios project from the front of the house. One is off the dining room, the other off the master bedroom. Each may be viewed from the house through a glass wall.

Plantings in the patios are set in borders against the stone walls, with a small rectangular reflecting pool at one side. Much of the planting, such as ivy and a low boxwood hedge, will remain green throughout the winter. Small trees were selected to create interesting silhouettes, even without foliage.

THE main courtyard is bordered by parallel wings which are connected by the living room of the house. All three sides are glassed in order that plantings may be enjoyed from nearly every room of the main structure.

Deep borders set against the house hold rhododendron and other perennials. One rectangular bed set in the slate surface of the courtyard will hold flowers to be changed with the seasons.

IN the center of the whole area is a yellow dogwood tree transplanted from another area of the property. Another reflecting pool is located at the front of the courtyard.

The owners said plantings in the gardens have not been completed and experimental plants may be changed before the final setting is achieved.

But even in its incomplete stage, tour participants will be privileged to see how Mr. and Mrs. Myers have enhanced the beauty and enjoyment of their home by incorporating the gardens into it.

ALL of the gardens selected for the tour will be open for inspection from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday.

It has been suggested by the committee that driving pools might be arranged, since parking is limited in some of the areas to be visited. With the purchase of their tickets, the visitors will receive a brochure giving addresses and a brief description and an itinerary can be more easily planned.

ALL proceeds from the tour are to be used by the Garden Club for its garden therapy project at Warren State Hospital. Tickets may be had from any Garden Club member, at the YWCA, B and B Smoke Shop, and at the United News.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne King and small son, Kevin, 117 Central Ave., left today for vacation with her family in Harrisburg. Leaving Kevin with his grandparents, they will spend another couple of weeks visiting points to the south.

Our Happy Birthday wishes to-day go to one of our oldest readers, Mrs. Kit Frank of Sugar Grove, who was 93 years old on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fernald and family were here from Glenshaw to spend the weekend with Mrs. S. W. Cramer, Fifth Ave. east.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Conway, 513 Fourth Ave., left this morning for Harrisburg, where he will attend a meeting of Democratic political figures. They expect to continue on to New York City to vacation for the remainder of the week.

Mrs. Dorothy Drew of Pina, Ariz., has arrived to visit her mother, Mrs. Mary Schussler, 83, who is a patient in Warren General Hospital. Mrs. Drew is a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Nina Cochran, 110 Conewango Ave.

Jimmy Dutches, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Dutches of 2 Sixth Ave., is back in Children's Hospital, Room 424, 219 Bryant St., Buffalo, N. Y. He is scheduled for kidney surgery, his third operation, and will be happy to hear from relatives and friends.

Mrs. Josephine Knoll and niece, Mrs. Magdalene Siggins, entertained Saturday night at the Knoll cottage at Prendergast Point on Lake Chautauqua, the cookout supper honoring Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobbs.

The couple left Sunday morning for their home in Las Vegas, Nev., after having visited relatives in town. They plan to stop en route in Colorado Springs, Colo., to visit his cousin, Mrs. Hugh Trabandt, and family.

A happy place this weekend was the home of Borough Police Patrolman and Mrs. Donald Fitch, 30 Buchanan St., whose younger daughter, Debbie, came home Saturday from Ziem Zem Children's Hospital in Erie. It was early in January when Debbie first went to Erie for hip surgery at Hamot Hospital. She was transferred to Ziem Zem a few weeks later.

In town for a few days have been Mr. and Mrs. John Stachowiak, who have spent the school term in Bloomington, Ind., while he had a year's leave of absence from Warren Area High School teaching duties for special study of Russian under the National Defense Education Act.

Mrs. Stachowiak and children will spend the summer with her family at 29 West Grand St., Nanticoke, while he returns to University of Indiana for additional work in the same field.

Garney M. Pedersen, 1603 Madison Ave., has been listed as one of the weekly winners in the Erie Times-News Photography Contest. His story, "Hands of Faith," embodied both pattern and mood in a closeup of a church organist's hands seeking out the correct notes of the organ console.

Mrs. Larry Mong, first grade teacher at Jefferson School, used an original idea for an end-of-the-term party for her class. Parents provided transportation for the 23 youngsters to her home on Follette Run Road, where festivities included a sucker tree on the lines of a Maypole and a Treasure Hunt for individually-marked foil-wrapped candies. Each child brought his lunch and these were eaten on the lawn.

Sam Paladino, president of Jamestown's Little Theatre, has made known tentative plans for an innovation in the coming season. He said a series of Sunday night programs will feature skits of scenes from plays and will double as social gatherings. Staging processes may be explained in this way, he said, and the experiment may result in encouraging new people to try out for productions.

Postmarked Sharon, we have a note the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Baldwin and daughter, Norma, attended the commencement events at the Pennsylvania State University, where Bruce Baldwin was a member of the graduating class and received a Bachelor of Science degree in forestry.

The Baldwins served Grace Methodist Church in Warren from 1949 to 1958 and the family has many friends in the area.

We wonder how much last week's ruling by the Post Office Department concerning odd-shaped letters will effect the greeting card industry.

Under the new regulation, mail less than three inches high and four and one-half inches long will be banned starting Jan. 1, 1963. The reason given was that new automatic cancelling machines handle with difficulty envelopes not of a standard size.

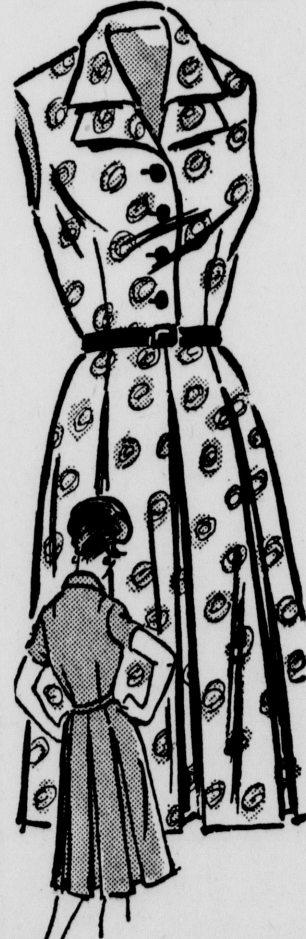

TEACHERS HONORED
Miss Veura Schuler, sixth grade teacher at Lacy School, was honored last week by her class of 33 pupils, who will be leaving the building to enter Beatty Junior High School in the fall.

The group presented their instructor a silver platter and sang an Alma Mater which had been written under the leadership of Linda Barney and Kay Gorenflo.

Mrs. Bertha Knupp, substitute teacher, was honored with presentation of a pin.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD A. RINGEL

Ringel and Sveta Rites In Saint John's Church

TITIOUTE — Palms and assorted white flowers decorated St. John's Roman Catholic Church May 12 for the marriage of Sandra Ruth Sveta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sveta of Pittsfield RD 1, to Ronald A. Ringel, son of Mrs. Arthur Ringel of Oakdale, Pa.

The double ring service was performed at 11 a. m. by the Rev. Father Arthur Fleckenstein. The wedding music was provided by Julia Wojciechowski, organist and soloist.

ESCORTED by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of lace and tulle, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and basque bodice re-embroidered with rhinestones and seed pearls. The full skirt was of alternating lace and tulle tiers over tissue taffeta.

A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of English tulle, her pearl necklace and earrings were the bridegroom's gift. She completed her ensemble with a bouquet of white roses, springere and white ribbon streamers.

WEARING pink, the maid of honor was Sandra Hastings; in blue, bridesmaids were Judy Gibson, a schoolmate; Deborah Sveta, Shirley Greenwald and Rosella Sveta, cousins of the bride.

Their taffeta ballerina gowns were styled with modified scoop necklines, cap sleeves and bell skirts. The honor attendant carried light blue bouquets; the others had light pink bouquets.

JOHN Welsh was the best man and guests were ushered by Robert Sparbani, Gary Wolfe, Thomas Greenwald and Steve Habovick Jr.

The mother of the bride pinned an orchid to a dress of beige lace over taffeta, with which she wore mint green accessories. Mrs. Ringel was favored with yellow roses for a blue crepe dress with matching accessories.

WEDDING bells and streamers decorated the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club, where the reception for 300 guests was given from 5 to 10 p. m. Aides were Mrs. Ann Force, Mrs. Ann Berce, Mrs. Harold Shipley, Mrs. Mary Bosko. The bride's niece, Susan Tompkins, managed the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride selected a light green suit, patent leather accessories and a corsage of white roses.

THE newlyweds are residing at 273-A Gambel Road, Oakdale. She is a graduate of Tidoute High School and has been employed by New Process Co. He is an alumnus of St. Luke's High School in Carnegie and is employed as a driver for Mineo Service Co.

Danger Area Extension Heralds Biggest Blast

By ROBERT MYERS

HONOLULU (AP) — Extension of the United States high altitude danger area around Johnston Island was seen today as a preliminary to the firing of the biggest nuclear blast of the Pacific test series.

There was no official comment from Joint Task Force 8 on the precise altitude and size of the detonation but unofficial sources said it will be from 50 to 500 times as powerful as the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima.

There have been reports it will be of several megatons in force. A megaton blast is the equivalent of the explosion of a million tons of TNT.

The big blast will be set off about 200 miles high, the sources said. It will be the highest and biggest nuclear shot in U.S. history and will be seen in Hawaii, 50 miles northeast of Johnston.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department announced Saturday that the nuclear danger area surrounding Johnston Island will be extended 60 miles by Tuesday to a radius of 530 nautical miles at sea level. It will be increased 290 nautical miles at 30,000 feet, to a radius of 990 miles.

The zone will be extended 10,000 feet in altitude to a height of 40,000 feet, where the radius will be 1,050 miles. At 30,000 feet the zone will cover the entire Hawaiian Islands chain.

The zone is being extended to mark the "eye burn" area in which there could be a hazard from looking directly at the blast through binoculars, periscopes or other optical instruments. The spokesman said it could lead to permanent eye damage or possible blindness.

He said there will be no hazard to Hawaii residents who view the fireball with the naked eye from surface levels.

Warren-Forest Council officials have announced 140 girls are registered for the initial week of Brownie Day Camp which opened this morning at Camp Birdsall Edey, near Grunderville.

Tidoute Residents Are Guests for Anniversary

TITIOUTE — Children of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Peterson have planned opehouse next Sunday in observance of the couple's golden wedding day. Entertaining for the affair are Mrs. Karl H. Johnson, Tidoute D 2; Mrs. Hugh McGraw, Tidoute; and Albert Peterson, Warren.

The reception will be given at the Johnson home, where relatives and friends are invited to call from 2 until 4 and 7 until 9 p. m.

GUST Peterson and the former Elizabeth Engdah were united in marriage in the Lutheran parsonage in Titusville, both have been residents of Tidoute community since they came to this country from Sweden.

Mr. Peterson came to America at the age of three; he was 18 when she came from overseas and was employed in her years by the late Mrs. Livingston L. Hunter.

SHE has a sister in North Dakota, Mrs. Hulda Johnson, and several others still in Sweden.

His family includes a brother, Charles in Albuquerque, N. M.; a sister, Mrs. Russell Vandervort in Denver, Colo.; another brother and sister who will come for Sunday's festivities, Edward of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. Anna Wickert of Cleveland, Ohio; and a third brother, J. Elmer Peterson, who serves as mayor of Tidoute Borough.

Besides these, those who will share in the anniversary gathering number nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Rebekahs Conclude Events Until Fall

All members of Lady Warren Rebekah Lodge are asked to attend the meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the IOOF Hall. This is the last meeting until fall.

Following the meeting, members and their husbands are invited to the annual hamburger-wiener fry at the home of Alta Fulmer on Warren-Jamestown Road.

Those planning to attend are asked to call RA 3-3384 no later than Wednesday evening.

Sugar Grove Boy Injured In Accident

Ralph E. Stewart III, an eight-year-old Sugar Grove boy, who sustained a brain concussion and head lacerations in a cycling accident Friday evening was listed in "good" condition this morning in Arden General Hospital.

A hospital spokesman reported that a youngster is alert and responsive.

The mishap occurred about 6:30 p. m. on Route 587 midway between Sugar Grove and Lander. According to police the accident involved the boy's youthful aunt and uncle and his pet collie "Butch."

The boy and two companions, Walter Stewart, 15, and Josephine Stewart, 10, brother and sister of Ralph's father, were returning to their home on a cycle trip to Morley.

They were riding along the side of the road with the younger boy in the lead when the collie ran against the front wheel of his master's bicycle.

The youngster lost his balance and fell to the pavement. The mishap occurred so fast, it was reported, that his companions were unable to avoid hitting him.

A passing motorist took the injured boy to his home where he reported to have been unconscious.

When first admitted to the hospital he was listed in "serious condition with a possible skull fracture."

97 Graduated from Youngsville; Dr. Augustine Is Main Speaker

YOUNGVILLE — A capacity crowd assembled in the Youngsville High School gymnasium Friday night for the 75th annual commencement exercises.

THE 97-member of the class of 1962 were honored at the event. The program opened with the processional. The music was provided by the high school band.

Dr. P. H. Augustine, guidance counselor at Albion, delivered the address. The educator, who has visited Russia, explained the variances in the educational system of Russia and America.

HE informed the graduates, that the Russians are proud of the fact that everyone receives the same education.

However, he explained, the fact that American students have a choice in education is one of the strongest points.

Dr. Augustine told the group there is a need for love and understanding. "Always make the other person feel important," he said.

THE REV. Marshall H. Gante offered the invocation. Miss Janet Ahlquist, salutatorian of the class of 1962, addressed the class. Theodore Olson, the choice, also addressed the class.

Enea Caravacci directed the band. Carol Thompson was the faculty's choice as a speaker and Miss Ina Groves is the valedictorian.

FELIX Matthews, high school principal, presented the awards and lead the class in the citizenship oath.

The diplomas were presented by Ernest K. Oviatt, school board president and H. J. Sherwood, supervising principal.

The ushers were: Dennis Clark, Sharon DeVore, Karen Font, Michael Piccirillo, Joseph Stec, Richard Thompson, Shirley Wolfe and Barbara Yucha.

JUDY Danielson and James Schnell served as marshalls.

Officers of the class of 1962 were: Miss Sherri Craft, president; Miss Linda Toner, vice-president; Miss Paulette Dinny, secretary and Charles Stillings, treasurer.

COMMENCEMENT PROCESSIONAL—Members of the Youngsville High School class of 1962 pass the open door of the high school gymnasium during the processional Friday night. After the 97 member class had moved down the aisle to their seats, the two-hour program of speakers and awards began. Dr. P. H. Augustine, guidance counselor at Albion, was the commencement speaker.

Good Neighbor Club Plans Picnic at Allegany Park

WILLOW CREEK — The Good Neighbor Club will have its annual picnic June 21 at Allegany State Park. Chairmen are Mrs. Margaret Keach, Mrs. Clyde Alferink and Mrs. Donna Steele.

Hostesses for the club's monthly meeting were Mrs. Daisy Hal-saver and Mrs. Charles Hopley. They substituted for Mrs. Arvid Johnson and Mrs. Raymond Cobb, due to the illness of Carl Johnson, a patient in Buffalo, N. Y., General Hospital.

Those serving on the committee for a meeting of Sally Wister Chapter DAR, in Bradford, were Mrs. M. L. Erickson, Mrs. Inez Johnson and the Misses Dorothy and Doris Alger. It was decided the annual picnic will be at Dach's in Red House on June 25.

Among those in the area to be graduated from Bradford Senior High School are Marcia Cobb, Darla Cobb and "Butch" DuBois. Thomas M. Yohe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Yohe, has been assigned to Fort Jackson, S. C., for his basic training.

Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Erickson were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Erickson of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Crouch of Amarillo, Texas, are expected to arrive this month to visit the Ericksons.

Returning home from several days of fishing in Canada is Guy Wilson.

Paul Cobb, son of Mrs. Ruth Cobb of Bradford, was given an audition on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour in New York. He was judged winner of the Wellsville, N. Y., Exchange Club Talent Show recently. He was accompanied on the trip by his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lynn Holcomb of Parkersburg, W. Va., have returned home after a visit with local relatives.

Recent Pittsburgh visitors were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clancy. Gus Stewart has been discharged from the Bradford Hospital and is at home.

A recent visitor of relatives here was Ike Stewart of Falconer, N. Y.

Mrs. Genevieve Lloyd, Bradford, is a guest of local friends.

Recent visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolven was Miss Nettie Johnson of Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brooks and family, Bradford, visited relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Alferink were in Rochester, N. Y., recently.

Homemade sauces and gravies are likely to curdle or separate after a stay in the freezer; commercial products get around this by using special thickening agents and stabilizers.

House, Senate Beginning First Full Business Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate and House plunge into a full week of business this week for the first time this year.

A little bit of something for almost everybody but the taxpayers is on an unusually heavy docket.

Two appropriation bills top a group of four big bills in the Senate. They call for an outlay of $48 billion to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting next month and $932 million for the Interior Department. Both have passed the House.

Once they are out of the way, the Senate plans to take up bills dealing with all-channel television and a space communications satellite system. They, too, have passed the House.

The House starts its week with a bill to take care of women workers. It would provide that women should receive the same pay as men if they do the same work.

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a program taped for radio and television stations in New York, Mundt contended the Agriculture Department showed favoritism to Estes by not requiring him to carry an adequate bond for storing government grain.

Estes' bond was set at $700,000 although he was storing grain valued up to $50 million. Agriculture Department officials have testified before the House subcommittee that the bond was based on an inaccurate audit Estes submitted on his net worth.

St. Joseph's Parochial School Graduates 11 from Eighth Grade

Eleven graduates of St. Joseph's parochial school were told by the Rev. Mark S. Rouché last night that the whole purpose of Catholic education was to use their God-given freedom of choice with responsibility, and their future education means nothing unless it points ultimately to God.

Father Rouché, Catholic chaplain at Warren State Hospital, addressed the 11 eighth grade students in St. Joseph's Church before a gathering of students, parents, and guests.

STRESSING the role of freedom, Father Rouché said, "we can be good or bad, depending on what we want to be, but our duty as Catholics tells us to return God's love."

The commencement speaker applied freedom of choice to the future education of the graduates, saying that "our education means nothing unless our choice is ultimately to return God's gift of love."

The Rev. Alfred M. Bauer, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, distributed diplomas to the graduates and also awarded prizes to pupils in all eighth grades for highest and second highest scholastic average, and highest in deportment.

THE American Legion Award and the American Legion Auxiliary Award was presented to James Clark and JoAnn Pasquarette, in recognition of their high qualities of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, and service.

The highest average award in the eighth grade was presented to James Clark, while Barbara Lucia was honored with an award for the second highest average. Miss Lucia was also awarded the prize for the highest average in religion. Sandra Hixson won the highest average in deportment prize.

FATHER Bauer also called attention to the future conduct of the class, saying that he hopes each member of the class will make a positive contribution in life as Catholic citizens. Citing some examples of true Catholic action on the part of young people and leaders in the parish, Father Bauer expressed his wish that the class follow these examples.

Benediction was said by Father Rouché, with members of the class assisting with the benediction hymn of "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo."

Winners in other grades were: Seventh grade highest average, Christine Williams; second highest, Diane Notoro; deportment prize, Linda Hulings.

Members of the class attended the 10 a. m. Dialogue Mass and a Communion breakfast in St. Joseph's school hall. Breakfast chairman was Mrs. Ralph Notoro, assisted by Mrs. George Kaleina, Mrs. Eugene Williams, Mrs. Nick Pirillo, Mrs. Andrew Musante, Mrs. Samuel Manno, Teresa Tassone, Pamela Notoro and Cecelia Musante.

Reception committee chairman was Mrs. Ward Piccirillo, assisted by Mrs. Robert McCoy, Mrs. Willis Hulings, Mrs. Joseph Reese, and Mrs. Paul Pollack. Seventh grade students decorated the school hall, and Frank Nichols was the disc jockey for the reception.

St. Joseph's Parent-Teacher Unit sponsored the affair.

2 Local Nurses Will Attend Iowa Workshop

Two Warren nurses will be among 58 faculty members from schools of nursing in Iowa and 10 other states who will attend a workshop this week at the State University of Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Doris Baride, 210 Main St., North Warren and Rachel Barratt, Warren States Hospital will attend the workshop on how to evaluate learning among nursing students.

The workshop will be the second meeting of the group this year. The first session was conducted on the SUI campus in January.

Florence Sherbon, associate professor and assistant to the dean at the college of nursing, will serve as principal consultant for the workshop.

Northern Area Graduates Hear John Bickel Speak

LANDER—Persistence and humility are the main attributes needed by young people to prepare for their future life in society, graduating seniors at Northern Area High School were told Friday night by a retired executive of the Carrier Corp.

John M. Bickel, a pioneer in the air-conditioning industry and former official for Carrier Corp., used experiences and observations from his fifty-year career in telling the departing members of the class of 1962 to "have the courage of your convictions and stick with them."

BICKEL, who also served in an executive capacity for Curtiss Aviation Corp., and the Curtis Publishing Co., reminded the seniors that a sense of humor is also essential in life and essential in getting along with people.

Speaking further on the need for persistence and humility, Bickel told the group that their abilities will ultimately be discovered. "Persistence will bring success," Bickel said.

BICKEL told of his immediate entrance into the business world following his graduation from high school. Starting as a ditch-digger, he rose to a managerial position with a gas company in Washington. Recalling his abrupt release from the fast-track position, Bickel decided to enter college, three years after his graduation from high school. He quipped, "the only reason I finished college was because I didn't want to explain why I didn't finish," lending personal experience to his stress towards perseverance.

Speaking on the educational process, Bickel also observed that "you are not educated because of your diploma, but because of life," recalling the theme of the speaker at his high school commencement exercises. "What we learn, we absorb from life," he said. "I can only speak to you from my long years of business experience."

BICKEL is the brother of television actor Frederic March, and said some day he hopes his "famous brother is introduced as the brother of Jack Bickel," drawing a chuckle from the filled auditorium.

The commencement exercises were held before a filled auditorium of parents and guests. The Northern Area High School band played five selections for a prelude interim. The 76 members of the class of 1962 filed down two aisles to a center section to "Pomp and Circumstance," the blue gowns of the male members of the class alternating with white gowns of the young ladies of the class.

The Rev. David Vennberg, pastor of Chandelers Valley Mission Covenant Church, gave the invocation. Dr. Everett A. Lanin, supervising principal of Northern Area

BOND WINNER—The Student Recognition Award given by the Retailers' committee of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, was won by Robert Miller, senior at Northern Area Joint High School. A special clock wound up last week stopped on Miller's name, designating him the recipient of a $50 savings bond. James Mazzu, chairman of the Retailer's Committee, and Col. Henry Kerlin, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, greeted Miller in the chamber office, and awarded him the prize.

Joint Schools, served as master of ceremonies, introducing the commencement speaker.

DIPLOMAS were presented by Francis Lewis, president of the board of education, while gold cords were presented by Landin to members of the honor group for permanent possession. This practice was initiated this year, and came as a surprise to members of the honor group.

Salutatory address was given by Frank C. Wilcox, followed by the valedictory address of James Theodore Carlson.

Following the benediction of Mr. Vennberg, the graduates filed out to "Proud Heritage," and formed a receiving line outside the auditorium for parents and friends.

Two Popular Musicals Set At La Salle

"Carousel" and "Annie Get Your Gun," two of the American stage's widely-acclaimed musicals, will be presented this summer by Music Theatre '62, La Salle College-sponsored professional stock operation which will open July 4 in the newly air-conditioned theatre on the Philadelphia campus.

"Carousel," the 4th of July opener, will play through July 29 with performances Wednesday through Sunday evenings at 8:30 p. m., Saturdays at 6 and 9:30 p. m. "Annie Get Your Gun" will open August 1 and run similarly through August 26.

FUNERAL INFORMATION WILL BE FOUND UNDER ANOTHER HEADING

GEORGE B. HULTBERG

The Rev. Carl Nelson, minister of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiated at 1 p. m. Saturday for the funeral of George B. Hultberg, 129 Pennsylvania Ave. west.

Burial followed in Oakland Cemetery, with George Geraci-mos, Webster Schriest, Otto K. Lynch, Larry Krespan, Arthur Schearer and Mike Bleech serving as bearers.

Members of Warren Lodge 223, BPOE, gathered at the funeral home Thursday evening.

MRS. LOUIS COLLINS

Mrs. Florence Marie Collins, wife of Louis Collins of 8 Monroe St., died at Warren General Hospital at 7:30 p. m. Friday after an illness of two months.

Born in Warren and a lifelong resident of the community, Mrs. Collins was the owner and operator of The Castle Dinor at 5 Pennsylvania Ave. east.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two sons, Robert J. Collins and Jack T. Collins, both of Warren; three brothers and a sister, Walter Mader of Cleveland, Ohio; Theodore Mader of Portland, Ore.; Clarence Mader, Conewango Ave. extension; and Mrs. C. J. Mader, Boca Raton, Fla.; one grandson, Shane J. Collins; a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Collins was a member of First Lutheran Church and the funeral service at 2 p. m. today was conducted by her pastor, the Rev. Frederick B. Haer. Burial followed in Oakland Cemetery.

CLAIR L. KING

The Rev. Marion W. McCoy, assistant pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated at 2 p. m. Friday for the funeral of Clair L. King, 103 East Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Attending from out of town were Dr. Dudley King, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Tim Nelson, Titusville; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Priest, Gowanda, N. Y.

KATHRYN PHILLIPS

The funeral of Kathryn Mae Phillips, Russell, was conducted at 2:30 p. m. Sunday by the Rev. C. C. Headland, minister of Russell Methodist Church.

Burial followed in Pine Grove Cemetery at Russell, with Ralph Swanson, James Nesmith, Emil Olson, Dennis Kingsley, Scott Phillips and Glenn Martin serving as bearers.

Attending from out of town were Thomas Phillips, Williams Air Force Base, Ariz.; Miss Della Kallenbach, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Jacobs, Brookville; Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobs, Cochranston.

CECIL G. WOODARD

Cecil G. Woodard, 62-year-old Youngsville barber, died at 6:30 a. m. Saturday at the family home at 13 Fourth St., Youngsville.

He was born in Eldred Center on May 16, 1900 and had lived in Youngsville the last 32 years, owning and operating the Woodard Barber Shop. He was a member of Warren Lodge 109, Loyal Order of Moose, and of Brokenstraw Grange in Youngsville.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret Vogel Woodard; two sons, Robert of Jamestown, N. Y., and Arthur of Bridgeville; five grandchildren; a brother, Jay M. Woodard, Youngsville; and a half-sister Mrs. Rhone Palen, Titusville.

The Rev. F. Eugene Donelson, of Youngsville EUB Church, officiated for the funeral service at 2 p. m. today, burial following in Youngsville Cemetery. Serving as bearers were Perry Lindberg, Roy Randall, Jake Berth, Herbert Persing, Howard Husted and Wendell Engstrom.

Members of the Moose Lodge conducted the ritual of their order at the funeral home Sunday evening.

Funerals

JOSEPH M. ANNONI—

Friends will be received at the Templeton Funeral Home from 7 until 9 p. m. today. The body will be taken Tuesday morning to the Barthes Funeral Home in Smithton, Pa., where a service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will follow in Olive Branch Cemetery in that community.

SAYMOND A. SCHULTZ—

Friends are being received at the Peterson Funeral Home, at the usual calling hours, and the service will be conducted there at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday. Major Charles Schaffer, retired Salvation Army official, will officiate and burial will follow in Pine Grove Cemetery at Russell.

GEORGE M. TOPPER—

Friends are being received at the Peterson Funeral Home at the usual calling hours, starting at 2 p. m. today, and the service will be conducted there at 3 p. m. Tuesday. The Rev. Ralph S. Findley, of Grace Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will follow in Oakland Cemetery.

JOSEPH M. ANNONI

Joseph M. Annoni, 54, who made his home with his brother, Angelo Annoni of 28 Elm St., died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 4:10 p. m. Sunday at the Edinger Keystone Service Station at Hickory St. and Pennsylvania Ave. west.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey, who was notified when the man was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital, said he was taken there by ambulance but it was believed he had died instantly at the station.

Annoni was employed as steward for Warren Lodge 109, Loyal Order of Moose, and was said to have been returning to the club after going to a nearby restaurant for a sandwich.

Born in Smithton, Pa., on Jan. 20, 1908, he had been a resident of Warren for the last 15 years. He was affiliated with the Moose Lodge of Warren, also of the Sons of Italy Lodge.

Surviving are a daughter, Le-Ella Annoni of Herminie, Pa.; and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Victoria Patterline, Zephyr Hills, Fla.; Mrs. Armina Mautino, Mrs. Rose Coradi and Miss Beatrice Annoni, Springdale; Mrs. Florence Pegorie, Smithton; Angelo Annoni, Warren; Charles Annoni, Jacobs Creek; Lewis Annoni, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Pauline Grant of New York City, N. Y. There are, also, several nieces and nephews.

The funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Smithton, followed by burial in Olive Branch Cemetery in that community.

GEORGE M. TOPPER

George McWilliam Topper, 64, of 223 Central Ave., died at 10:35 p. m. Saturday in Warren General Hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks.

Born in Warren on July 6, 1897, he had been a lifelong resident of the community and had been a member of the Warren Borough Fire Department since May 1, 1944. He was a member of the Warren Firemen's Relief Association, Gordon Club, and the Centennial Hose Co.

Surviving are his wife, Beatrice Rowley Topper, to whom he was married on Nov. 1, 1927; also four sisters, Mrs. Belle T. Smith of Rifle, Colo.; Mrs. Janet Swanson, Miss Martha and Miss Mary Topper, all of Warren.

The funeral service at 3 p. m. Tuesday will be conducted by the Rev. Ralph S. Findley, pastor of Grace Methodist Church. Burial will follow in Oakland Cemetery.

Canada To Keep Present Rate Of Exchange

OTTAWA (AP)—Finance Minister Donald M. Fleming said Sunday night Canada will not consider any change from the present Canadian dollar exchange rate of 92½ cents to the U.S. dollar.

Fleming said in a statement: "We are determined to maintain the 92½-cent rate against pressures of any sort."

Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton was quoted by newsmen, Friday as saying that he supports a further devaluation of the dollar exchange rate to 90 cents. He said the 92½-cent rate, established May 3, was in effect a compromise among Cabinet members and asserted the 90-cent level is "a natural peg which is defensible with our negative trade balance."

Pilot Uninjured In Plane Crash At Monroeville

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two pilots escaped serious injury Saturday night when their light plane crashed in suburban Monroeville, narrowly missing a house.

Flight instructor Thomas S. Gabriello of Indiana, Pa., was not hurt. Arthur L. Beegle, 25, of Pittsburgh, a student pilot, was treated at Columbia Hospital for slight neck injuries and released. Gabriello was piloting the plane. It hit two utility poles and landed in the street after missing the home of Ernest Borgoyne. The crash came just after the plane had taken off from a private airport.

SH Carnival Is Scheduled For July 19

IT is expected that merchants from the 13-county area which is served by the hospital, will contribute their time, services and funds to assure the success of the carnival.

The event is planned specifically for the patients and is not open to the public.

Welfare Dept. Will Open Three Mental Health Units

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Welfare Department reports it plans to open three new mental health institutions this year—two for children and one for adults.

The children's institutions are the Eastern State School and Hospital in Bensalem Twp., Bucks County, and the Western State School and Hospital, Canonsburg, Washington County.

The adult facility is the Haverford State Hospital in Delaware County. Department officials hope the children's facilities will be ready to open in August while they expect Haverford to begin receiving patients by July 1.

Bloom Says: Nothing Decided On Jurist Race

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said Sunday nothing definite has been decided about the time or method for selecting the GOP candidate for the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Reports from Philadelphia stated that U.S. Rep. William W. Scranton, the GOP gubernatorial candidate, wants a special committee of party leaders to recommend the candidate.

Bloom, however, would say only that there "has been some talk" of the panel method, but that "nothing definite" has been decided.

The chairman also said it was questionable whether the candidate would be selected at the State Committee's biennial reorganization meeting this weekend in Philadelphia.

"There has been quite a bit of sentiment to wait until a subsequent meeting before making the nomination," he said. He added that "some people," felt it wiser to wait until after the committee was reorganized before naming the candidate.

Scranton is reported to want the matter resolved before the reorganization meeting Saturday. He also is reported to have decided on the panel method of selection after conferring with members of the statewide ticket last week in Washington.

Prison Probe Is 'Thorough' Board Claims

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The state Bureau of Correction's investigation into conditions at the Allegheny County Workhouse is the most thorough prison probe in the bureau's nine-year history, says the group's commissioner.

Arthur T. Prasse said Sunday, "We have never gone into prison investigations as thoroughly as we did here."

Prasse said the investigators still have to make another visit or two to the workhouse but that they already have begun writing their reports.

The investigation, now in its fourth week, was brought about after charges were made that preferential treatment was given to some prisoners.

Atty. Gen. David Stahl requested the probe by the bureau.

Colonel Killed in Traffic Accident

CAMP ZAMA, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Army reported today that Lt. Col. Edward B. Krainink, 46, of Plymouth, Pa., was killed in a traffic accident Saturday.

The car Krainink was driving hit a parked five-ton truck at Hiratsuka City, about 35 miles southwest of Tokyo, the Army said.

Krainink is survived by his widow and two daughters who live at the Sagamihara dependent housing area.

Smokey Says:

Forest fires pollute clear streams!

However, Mental Health Commissioner John E. Davis cautioned there "can be delays" in the opening dates, depending on the time required to recruit a trained professional staff for the institutions.

All three are General State Authority projects and, the department says, represent an element of the expansion program initiated in this field in 1955-56 under former Gov. George M. Leader.

Welfare Secretary Ruth Grigg Horting said the state's major concern in mental health services is to rehabilitate the afflicted and restore them to the community.

But, she added, "we must also prepare for admissions."

When ready, the Bensalem facility will have a bed capacity for 340 emotionally disturbed children while Canonsburg will accommodate 580 retarded children and emotionally disturbed children.

Davis explained that mental retardation deals with the inability of a child to learn—his intellectual capability—while emotional disturbance applies to the child's behavior patterns—his sensory reactions.

Terms such as morose, feeble-minded, imbecile are "passe," he said.

He also emphasized that the bed capacities at these institutions would not be filled immediately. Rather there will be a progressive increase in admissions, again, much depending on the staff available.

The Bensalem facility will cost $7.7 million and Canonsburg, $9.5 million. Expansion is planned for the future at both institutions.

Haverford will cost approximately $13.5 million and will become the state's 18th state hospital for emotionally disturbed adults. Its bed capacity of 650 also will be filled progressively rather than immediately.

Library Is Considered As One of Centers

tral, Central, Northwest, North-Central, East and Southeast.

Dr. Beasley reported that "for the best use of resources a center should be located at a point where, if everyone in a given district visited the library, the total distance traveled would be smaller than for a district center located at any other point.

"OTHER things being equal," he continued, "the centers will then tend to be located in major urban areas."

Library centers were chosen on the basis of location, facilities, service, present library programs and potential growth.

The report notes that less than half the districts meet all the criteria applied or the limited standards proposed in the 1958 plan.

HOWEVER, it states, "with proper assistance from the Commonwealth and local initiative, these marginal centers should soon be able to provide direct service to their districts."

Blasingame said, "The plan recommended by Dr. Beasley, to implement the Library Code, can be an important step toward raising the standards of library service in Pennsylvania."

"These information centers will back-stop existing local library units, permitting them to supplement and expand their services by making much greater resources available to them.

"THEY also will provide an atmosphere in which new and better local libraries can be created," he said.

Continuing, he said, "The district center system will give local libraries the opportunity, through cooperating among themselves and using center library resources, to provide their patrons with a greater quantity and improved quality of books."

The Library Code also establishes for regional resource centers that would further supplement the system by making available highly technical and advanced research materials, he remarked.

Some 51 per cent of the 149,498 population in the Warren District live within a 25-mile radius of the center.

Franco Arrests Hundreds of Dissidents

Arriba, organ of Franco's Falange party, branded the Munich conference as "a reconciliation of traitors."

Official sources said many of those arrested were involved in the wave of coal field and industrial strikes that recently gripped northern Spain. They were arrested after the government issued a decree restricting the movement of Spaniards in the country.

Another monarchist, Jose Maria Gil Robles, flew to Paris after being given a choice of exile or forced residence in Spanish territory. Jesus Prados Arrarte, noted economist and Madrid University professor who was given the same choice as Gil Robles, arrived in Paris Sunday.

Gas Explodes, None Injured

MILLSBORO, Del. (AP)—A 100-pound tank of propane gas exploded during a fire safety demonstration Sunday. Sixteen persons suffered burns, none seriously.

Ralph Brittingham, a member of the Millsboro Fire Company, said about 200 persons were on hand when the explosion occurred during the annual demonstration of fire fighting techniques by fire companies in Sussex County.

Brittingham said a fire was built around the 100-pound tank and the heat was exploded to blow out a safety valve, making the tank into a torch. Instead, he said, the valve failed and the tank exploded.

Cause of the malfunction of the valve was not immediately determined.

The injured included both volunteer firemen and friends and relatives watching the demonstration. Eight of the injured, including three children, were held for treatment and observation at Bebe Hospital in Lewes, Del. The others were treated and released.

Area Accidents Result In Minor Injuries to Two

Area automobile accidents over the weekend resulted in minor injuries to two, three arrests and about $4,000 in damage.

Two Jamestown youths were slightly injured early Sunday morning when their automobile left the Tidoute Road, Route 62, about nine miles south of Warren.

James W. Culp, RD 3, Jamestown, operator and Thomas R. McClimans, 21, RD 2, Greenville, sustained abrasions and scalp lacerations in the mishap.

State Police from the Warren sub-station, who investigated the accident said Culp fell asleep at the wheel, ran off the highway and struck a utility pole.

Police said Culp will be charged with reckless driving. Damage was estimated at $2,300.

At 3 p. m. Sunday, the brakes failed on a truck as it approached the intersection of Routes 27 and 69 about three miles south of Sugar Grove, causing it to smash into about four cars located in a used car lot.

State Police said G. Cheroka of Courtland, Ohio was operating the vehicle. They reported that the truck came to the intersection, was unable to stop and crashed into the parked cars.

Damage to the parked cars was set at $1,100 with the truck being damaged in the amount of $300. Arthur S. Beach of Sugar Grove is the owner of the parked cars.

In Warren Borough local police charged Edward L. Ball, 18, 124 Prescott Lane, with failure to yield the right of way when his car struck a vehicle at about 1:27 a. m. Saturday.

Police said Ball had stopped his car at a flashing traffic signal at the intersection of Third St. and Conewango Ave. and had proceeded out into the intersection, striking an auto operated by James R. Wenzel, 28 of 1013 Jackson Run Road, who was traveling north on Conewango Ave.

Damage to each car was estimated at $100.

Pastor Retires For Second Time; He's Now 91

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—"I don't want to stay around here," the minister told his board of stewards, "until you fellows look at me askance and say, 'Why doesn't that old rascal move on?'"

The Rev. Walter Scott Robinson then retired from active ministry for the second time in 91 years.

He retired the first time in 1942 when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 72. He soon returned to the pulpit as a supply pastor as more and more young ministers were called to the war.

He served Decatur's First Methodist church as associate pastor until his recent second retirement.

An enthusiastic golfer for many years, he still gets out on the course occasionally, but hasn't played much lately "because the old legs have gone back on me. After about six holes I begin to tire."

Robinson began playing golf at 52 when his doctor advised him to give up tennis—"He told me tennis was too strenuous."

Archbishop Orders Schools To Integrate

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a Presbyterian, said he was "certain Atlanta and north Georgia people would show the same courtesy and consideration that was shown in the integration of the Atlanta public schools last fall."

Four high schools admitted nine Negroes at that time. One later returned to her old school at her request.

The peaceful lowering of racial barriers was cited by the archbishop as one reason for the church action now—about three months after New Orleans' 133 archdiocesan schools, with about 75,000 pupils were ordered integrated.

early Saturday evening after his automobile struck a car parked in front of 7 Pine St.

Police said Gertsch, 49, of 1301 Pennsylvania Ave., west, while backing out of his driveway struck a car owned by Edward Stover of 7 Pine St.

According to police, the Gertsch car, after striking the parked car, proceeded onto the sidewalk before pulling back into the driveway.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — You, the consumer, are the biggest factor in the economy. And the government wants to help keep the economy from dawdling—to help, maybe, by from $5 to $9 billion worth.

That's why tax relief for individuals is proposed by President Kennedy.

While the emphasis of his tax cutting plan is laid on spurring hesitant business to raise its spending plans and on counteracting the harm an ailing stock market has done to confidence, the amount that may be pared from individual federal income taxes could prove a top weapon in the fight to increase the rate of economic growth.

That's because you aren't expected to hold onto whatever you save from the proposed federal income tax cuts, when and if put into effect. You are expected to spend it—in the stores, at the auto dealers, the housing development, or for the countless services that mean more in your life all the time. Or, if you're in top income brackets, you're expected to put your tax savings into direct and indirect investment in business ventures.

This recognition of the big role the individual can play and does play, if he has the wherewithal, is an essential part of Kennedy's tax reform proposals, promised later this summer.

Earlier plans, now before Congress or in the works in the Internal Revenue Service, concentrate almost exclusively on incentives for business expansion through revamping depreciation allowances for tax purposes. This is important, especially now that business is hesitant.

But consumer spending can give a big boost, too. The President hasn't spelled out how big a cut in individual income taxes he wants. In any case the cuts won't be a certainty until Congress takes final action.

Because the economy has dawdled there has been a good deal of wishful thinking recently that individual taxes would be cut this year. Also behind such thinking was the realization that tax bills originate in the lower house of Congress, and this is a congressional election year.

This hope for an early windfall for the individual taxpayer seems dashed by the President's statement that he wants the next Congress, not this one, to cut taxes. The cuts would affect income earned after Jan. 1, but wouldn't change the amount deducted from your pay this year, or the amount you'll be liable for next April 1.

Whatever the taxpayers in the lower income brackets may save by such a cut is expected to flow almost automatically into the channels of trade. The individual sums will be small; the total will be large, because the Treasury gets the lion share of its revenues from those in the lower brackets.

In the middle brackets, some of the tax relief could be put into various forms of saving and some into direct investment in business. But a large amount probably would go into goods and services—things wanted now, but just out of reach of disposable income after taxes.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery.

In case after case while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

Constitution Of State Again Is Under Fire

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's patchwork quilt constitution is in for another season of fire and fury. It could become a campaign issue.

Richardson Dilworth, Democratic candidate for governor, told a party meeting this week that the 88-year-old basic law was a liability. He said a new one should be drawn up at a convention and put before the voters for approval.

That put the rickety Victorian document—amended three times as much as the federal constitution in half as many years—squarely in the political spotlight.

It is up to Republicans now to decide whether they want to fight on this ground that Dilworth has chosen. Their candidate for governor, Rep. William W. Scranton, hasn't had much to say about the much maligned constitution of 1874.

But his party is firmly on record as favoring drastic revision of it. They are lukewarm about writing a new one.

Everybody in or around government complains about the constitution—cabinet officers, attorneys, legislators. But nobody seems willing or able to really do something about it.

In 1959 a blue-ribbon panel of legal experts, including Dilworth and high-ranking Republicans, presented a report recommending umpteen amendments. The commission was headed by Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside, a factor in the GOP bugnator-ial picture earlier this year and now being mentioned as a state Supreme Court candidate prospect.

Said he in submitting the report to Gov. Lawrence:

"The deliberations were free from partisan approach. In spite of basic differences in governmental philosophy and in forceful presentation of conflicting views, there never were any expressions of acrimony or personal animosity to mar the decorum of the meetings."

How could the universally criticized constitution become a political issue?

Taxes. The constitution bars a graduated income tax. It specifies all taxes must be collected equally, according to class.

Republicans are expected to demand that Dilworth and his party spell out what kind of tax clause they would prefer.

Traditionally, the GOP has opposed the graduated income levy for the state. Individual Democrats from time to time have been born for and against a graduated income tax.

Some political theorists contend it is the most equitable kind of tax because it imposes the heaviest burden on those best able to pay.

Yet John Kenneth Galbraith, one of President Kennedy's economic advisers and now ambassador to India, has written emphatically that graduated income levies have reached their peak and that government should look for other tax sources.

Miss Pennsylvania Named; Pretty Bank Employee, 18

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Penny

Lineman, an 18-year-old brown-haired, brown-eyed Philadelphia bank employee, reigns today as Miss Pennsylvania beauty pageant thanks to a tip and encouragement from her mother.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Alice Lineman noticed in the newspaper that the Miss Pennsylvania semi-finals and finals of the Miss Universe contest were to be held in Philadelphia.

She told Penny, about it. Penny, whose only previous competition came last August when she was named Miss Northeast Suburbia, thought it was just wonderful and said she'd love to enter. Why didn't you, suggested Mrs. Lineman. It can't hurt you, mother told daughter.

On Thursday Penny phoned officials of the beauty pageant and told them she would like to enter. Come on down, we'll have to look you over, they told her. She did and was accepted.

Friday night Penny, who is 5-7 and weighs 135 with measurements of 36-24-36, made it through the semi-finals.

Sunday night she was chosen from among 15 finalists as Miss Pennsylvania and will compete in the Miss U.S.A. competition July 7 in Miami Beach, Fla.

"I'm so happy. I'm surprised. It's wonderful," said the excited Miss Lineman who entered the contest as Miss Mayfair. Mayfair is a section of northeast Philadelphia.

"I think it's quite an honor to represent my state," said Miss Lineman. "I thought when I made that (the finals) I thought God has been good to me and I never thought I'd go all the way."

First runner-up Sunday night's finals was Susan Peterman, 19, Miss Erie. Second runner-up was Rosemary Loughran, 19, also of Philadelphia, Miss Southeastern Pennsylvania.

New Troopers Hear Troopage At Graduation

Gov. David L. Lawrence will be principal speaker at the graduation of 94 new state troopers from the State Police Academy in Hershey on Wednesday.

The new troopers are the first appointments made under the expanded complement authorized by the state legislature last year.

A second 100 additional men was also authorized for the department during the coming fiscal year period beginning July 1.

State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney indicated the next cadet class will be appointed to begin training in the fall.

Gov. Lawrence and Col. McCartney will present diplomas to the cadets in ceremonies on the Academy grounds at 10 a. m.

JIM BISHOP:

Reporter

"Dear Jim: Someday you may get to a little town called St. Cloud, Fla. If you do, I wish you would stop to see Mrs. Manny Budinger. She has a story. Of course, everyone has a story to tell, but this one is typically yours. Years ago, she and her husband were engaged in welfare work in Chicago. One day an eye doctor told Mr. B. that she had glaucoma.

"To some people, this is the end of the road. Sight fades swiftly or slowly, depending upon the amount of damage and the amount of care. The doctor advised the Budingers to take a rest in Florida. Lord knows how they picked a tiny town like St. Cloud, but they did. It was a sunny sleepy sort of place, and the couple liked it so well that they decided to live out their time there.

"Mrs. B. was shopping one morning when she saw a man lying in the gutter. He was stoned. Someone told her he was the town drunk. His name was Bill Silver. Somehow, she got him to his feet and, with the help of Mr. B., brought him to their little place. She straightened him out. Silver had no family, no friends, no money, no hope.

"The lady told him the he now had a home as long as he remained sober. He said he couldn't stay sober unless he had something to occupy his mind. Mrs. B. put him in the spare room and gave him a clock. 'It's broken,' she said. 'Fix it.' Bill Silver unnerved Mrs. Budinger by putting the clock in working order within 15 minutes.

"It was going to require effort to keep Bill busy. She found another busted alarm clock. Then a cuckoo clock. Then a grandfather's clock with chiming. Bill Silver kept going. So did the clocks. People from all over that area began to send clocks they didn't want. Silver repaired them and he also repaired an old barn on the property.

"In a short time, Mrs. B. had 400 clocks, all ticking as though they and Bill Silver and Mrs. B.'s eyes would go on forever. Most of them had to be wound daily. The old barn became a clock museum. Signs advertising the place went up on the highways. People stopped by to look at some strange and wonderful clocks, and some worthless ones too.

"The museum made no charge, but some people left a coin or two. Then Mrs. Budinger decided to build a small hospital with the money from the clock museum. It was an idiotic idea, except that St. Cloud had no hospital. After a number of years, the Budingers and Bill Silver realized that they had enough money to buy a piece of land. They bought it.

"They needed more clocks, more donations, although they never asked for anything. Mrs. B. added authentic antiques to the clock museum and the old barn became a tourist site. More years went by, and more work, and more donations came in. Mentally, Mrs. B. built that hospital brick by brick.

"Well, as the fellow says, never underestimate the power of a woman. That hospital was actually built. I won't go over the number of years, the heartaches, the sacrifices, but the Budingers and their old friend Bill Silver finally made it.

"When it was finished, the townpeople walked through the corridors, looked into the neat empty rooms, stared at the big space where the operating room would be, and marveled that a combination of two strangers—a woman and a man with deep personal problems—could achieve such a great humanitarian thing designed to solve other people's problems.

"Silver, I guess, realized that the thing for which he had been placed on earth had been done. And properly done. He was now getting on in years and he was tired of all the clocks, the chiming, the tourists and, I guess, time itself. He sustained a heart attack. Unfortunately, the hospital was empty. There were no beds. No doctors.

"Bill Silver died. Some said he was the town bum. Some said he was a saint. The truth is that he was just a man who needed a goal. He found it. He made it, which is more than most of us can say. The Budingers buried him. The failing eyes of Mrs. B. were in twilight, and could not shed a tear. But she and Manny knew how good Bill had been.

"As I say, some day you may get to St. Cloud, Florida. In fact, my reason for writing to you is to ask if you can find someone who will equip the hospital. It stands alone and empty and it cannot help the sick and the hurt, the young and the old, until it has beds and lights and doctors and nurses.

"Mrs. B. does not want to be enveloped by the long darkness until she can see this happen. So she is offering the clock museum, the hospital, the land, her home and all she owns to anyone who will equip the St. Cloud Hospital.

"I can't write the story. Everybody knows I write sports. You can. Who knows? Maybe someone will read the thing and decide to make an old dream come true.

"All the best, Jim.

Lois O'Neill."

Nicholas Petchel Joins Army; Pvt. Geer Completes Training

Nicholas L. Petchel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Petchel, 42, Deerlick St., Sheffield, recently enlisted in the regular Army for three years.

Enlisting under the Army's "graduate specialist program," which guarantees men their choice of schooling, Petchel selected "petroleum products analysis."

Bucs Grab Two; Yankees, Giants Drop Two!

1st Twinbill In Four Tries

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—After losing three doubleheaders within seven days, the Pittsburgh Pirates figured the law of averages was in their favor. So they did a turn-about and made the Milwaukee Braves their victims.

The Pirates broke out of a slump of only one victory in eight games Sunday by avenging a double setback by Milwaukee Saturday with a sweep of a doubleheader with the Braves 12-8 and 3-2.

"I think you might say we were owed these two," said Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh. "How many doubleheaders can a team lose in a row? Those two losses to Houston last Sunday, two to Los Angeles and then the two to the Braves really hurt."

Reminded of a statement that he was trying to put his "pitching, hitting and fielding together," Murtaugh grinned and said: "Yeah, we did it today, but not the way I meant. I want it in every game. Luckily, we got hitting in the first game when our pitchers had a little trouble. Then in the second game we got the pitching and our fielding came through."

Bill Mazeroski drove in five runs with a pair of homers, his sixth and seventh of the season, and Dick Schofield batted in four as Bob Friend earned his sixth victory against seven defeats. Friend weakened in the hot sun and Elroy Face and Tom Sturdivant succeeded him.

Earl Francis allowed only five hits in eight innings of the nightcap, but needed help from Face after walking the first two batters in the Milwaukee ninth. Francis was wild, issuing eight walks, but was aided by three double plays.

Face, the fork-ball artist, had pitched scoreless ball for 16 straight innings in 14 relief appearances until he surrendered two runs and was lifted in favor of Sturdivant in the eighth inning of the opener. He gave up a single before getting the next three batters in the ninth of the nightcap.

"Face has been doing a terrific job for us," Murtaugh said. "I had forgotten the last time a team had scored against him. He wasn't hit really hard in the first game, but he couldn't get them out. That's what makes this game."

The Braves, who had been hopeful of reaching the .500 mark at the start of the day, were jolted by the double loss. They had won six of eight previous games.

"It's either up or down in this business," manager Birdie Tebbetts said. "Those double plays always kill you. That's what we mean when we talk about speed."

Scanning results of major league play during the day, Murtaugh noted that the Washington Senators, managed by old hometown buddy and former Pittsburgh coach Mickey Vernon, had defeated the Detroit Tigers 2-1 and 5-4.

"It's a good day for Chester, Pa.," Murtaugh said with a smile.

Beveragemen Softballers Go for Ride

The Warren Beverage softballers dropped a doubleheader to Strom's Grill from Jamestown Saturday afternoon on the State Hospital diamond by the scores of 6-2 and 8-5.

Dean Stewart pitched beautiful five-hit ball in the first game but the Beveragemen could get only one hit off Strom's Bill Prince.

Bob Larson did most of the hurling in the second game and was relieved by Stewart. Between them, they gave up 10 hits with Larson responsible for nine. Dave Hanson gave up eight hits in the second game of Strom's.

In the second game, Ray Campbell slammed a homer for the Beveragemen while Carl Malta did the same thing for Strom's. Malta also hit a triple with three men on.

The win placed Strom's record at 24-6.

Beveragemen Hardballers Win Shutout

Five runs in the first inning and it was all over for Green Brothers Lumber yesterday afternoon as Warren Beverage's Chautauqua County Association entry rolled to an easy 11-0 victory over their opponents.

Triples by Wink Rickerson and Ray Peterson in the fifth inning with one on drove in three more runs but they weren't needed as the game was a shutout from the start.

Fred Gray and Rickerson allowed only three hits in holding the Lumbermen hitless.

The win left the Beveragemen with a 5-1 league record.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Game Commission expects an ample supply of wild turkeys to be available for the 1962 hunting season.

The commission said Sunday the wild turkey population came through the winter in excellent condition.

With a break in the weather this spring for the critical nesting and brooding season, the commission anticipates an abundance of the birds for the fall.

Sacred Territory Violated!

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The sacred sanctum has been breached—the press box at Chavez Ravine was invaded for the first time by a female guest.

Since the invader was Juliet Prowse, nobody complained. Sportswriters caught a wink of mink and turned to see the dancer and Eddie Fisher.

They were invited in by Columnist Walter Winchell during Sunday's doubleheader between the Kansas City Athletics and the Los Angeles Angels.

Miss Prowse prowled through, followed by the scent of perfume and every eye, then returned with Fisher to their box seats.

Hot Stove Results

Knapp Hits, Hurls

Friday night, I.O.O.F. and Speedway of Sugar Grove were defeated by Morley & Sandburg of Youngsville by the score of 19-5. Ronnie Knapp was the winning pitcher, and Frank was the loser. For the winners Ronnie Knapp and Terry Reynolds hit home runs. Brunec hit one for the losers.

Pitches Two-Hitter

Lander Midgels beat the Russell Midgels by the score of 5-0 behind the pitching of Gary Dalrymple who tossed a two-hitter. Dalrymple and Bernie Huber had doubles for the winning nine. Steve Wilson had a triple for Lander also. Passinger was the losing pitcher going the route for Russell.

Only Needed Two

American Legion scored two runs in the first inning and that's all they needed to defeat Hunter's Atlantic, 2-1. Danny Phillips went the distance for Hunter's striking out seven. Ed Christenson pitched four and Roy Swanson three innings for Legion, both striking out six.

Roy Swanson and Barry Dietsch had triples for the winners while Christenson had a double. Don Holmberg had a double for Hunter's.

Sneaks By

Riverside Acid also scored two runs in the first inning, all they needed to sneak by C. Beckley, 2-1. Mike Hecsa and Steve Gelotte hurled for Riverside while Corky Greenwood took care of the mound duties for C. Beckley. Bruce King had two doubles for Beckley.

T-M Wins, 5-4

Warren Car Co. had a 4-1 lead going into the fourth innings and it took The Times-Mirror two innings to overtake them but in the end, The Times-Mirror was ahead, 5-4. Steve Crossett was the winning pitcher with T. Kinlander getting tabbed with the loss.

Seneca Triumphs

Bell Telephone came out on the wrong end of 9-6 score when they played Seneca Lumber Saturday night. Timmy Albaugh was the winning pitcher with Chucky Musante blasting out a homer for the winners and Mock a triple. Scalise had a homer for Bell.

Win Puts Sadecki Over 'Mighty Hump'

By IRWIN FRANK

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"This is what you need to get over the hump," a happy Ray Sadecki said. The hump he was talking about was mighty large.

The 21-year-old left-handed pitcher, who won few friends last week in a hassle with St. Louis Cardinal management, made the remark after he defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 Saturday and got his first big league homer.

"What happened during the week is in the past," he said. Manager Johnny Keane, who had few kind words for the $50,000 bonus baby when he fined him $250, obviously felt the same way. And the fine appeared to have helped to shake the club out of its tailspin. The Red Birds, losers of eight in a row before the incident, now have seven straight victories.

"Sadecki looked like the Ray Sadecki we know him to be," Keane said. "He accepted the challenge and pitched like we know he can pitch. We need him. We always counted on him and now we know we can."

Keane fined Sadecki Tuesday night "for the poorest exhibition of effort I have ever seen on a major league diamond" after the pitcher faced five Cincinnati batters in relief and all five scored on two homers and two Sadecki errors.

Sadecki refused to come to work the next day and was suspended by General Manager Bing Devine. All three stated their views in blunt language before they finally got together at a secret meeting and announced Sadecki was back on the job.

Knapp Wins Trophy

Jamestown's Freddie Knapp pushed his 1960 Ford around State-line Speedway like he never had before Saturday night and won his first feature event in many years of racing at that raceway.

Freddie was in the first row next to the pole when it started and that's where he finished; in front of the pack and in the winner's circle.

Knapp jumped out to number one position right at the start and never let it go for a minute during the 50-lapper. At times, he lead by a full half-lap and at other times, Kane's Hyle Russell, who finished second in the race, was right on his tail and trying to pass.

Before the race was more than one-lap old, Warren's Emory Mahan was spun out. Being one of the high point men at State-line, he started close to the end of the pack of 27 cars and by spinning out, lost the two positions he had. However, he quickly turned his '61 Rambler around and was back in the race.

He advanced from last place to about 12th or 13th when on the 12th lap, he lost a tire and was out for good. The night before, he took the feature event at Eriez Speedway in Erie. He has won two features so far in this young season.

Squirt Johns from Brockway also started about midway back in the pack and had worked his way up to third place and was challenging Russell for second when he lost a wheel on the 34th lap.

Another area favorite, Sammy LaMancuso from Jamestown, continued to have bad luck. He won the first feature of the year at State-line but since that time, has been plagued with troubles of one kind or another all season long.

"This year, I went out and got all brand new equipment—right from the tires up—and I have never had so much trouble in my life," he committed after the feature.

Early in Saturday's race, Sammy went out with rear-end trouble and watched the race from the infield. He has already installed a second engine in his car this year.

However, for Frank Ruhlman of Youngsville, it was a good night. He builds and owns three of the cars that tour the two-track circuit and Saturday night, two of his finished in the money.

Russell finished second in car number two and Ronnie Blackmer, also of Youngsville, finished third in car number four. Ruhlman's cars are numbered two, four and six. The other driver in his stable is Eddie Kisko of Kane.

Erie speedster Tom Dill finished fourth.

Just prior to the start of the feature, Ken Johnson was presented with the Gust Johnson Memorial Trophy which he retired by winning the 50-lap Memorial race last week.

Johnson himself purchased the trophy in memory of his father in 1956. To retire the trophy, a driver had to win the race twice. Johnson won the race for two straight years.

The first half of the evening was devoted to the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show featuring Chitwood, a former Indianapolis driver, and his son, Joie Jr.

Here's the results (only race): FEATURE: Freddie Knapp, Hyle Russell, Ronnie Blackmer, Tom Dill.

Month of Bliss Means Nothing To Sinking SF

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

As certain as death and taxes—that's a San Francisco Giants' swoon in June.

In each of their first four seasons in San Francisco, the Giants had stormed into June in or very close to first place in the National League standing only to fall flat on their faces in the month of honeymoons and traditional bliss.

This year, their fifth on the West Coast, has been no exception. They absorbed two more defeats at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday—6-5 and 13-3—extending their losing streak to six straight games.

The double defeat, coupled with Los Angeles' double triumph over Houston, by scores of 9-3 and 9-7, dropped the Giants 2½ games behind the league leading Dodgers. Only a week ago the Giants led the Dodgers two games.

The Giants' June collapse is one of those believe-it-or-nots. Take a look:

1958—The Giants were in first place on May 31, enjoying a one-game lead over Milwaukee. They lost 14 of their next 20 to drop into third place, 3½ games off the pace.

1959—The Giants were in second place, a game in back of Milwaukee on June 1. They lost 9 of their next 16 to fall two games behind.

1960—The Giants were in first place on May 30, leading Pittsburgh by one game. They lost 17 of their next 22 to slide into third place 6½ games behind.

1961—The Giants were in first place on May 29, leading Los Angeles by a game and a half. They lost 8 of their next 10 to fall into third place, two games off the pace.

Pittsburgh took two games from Milwaukee 12-8 and 3-2. Cincinnati split with Philadelphia, winning the second game, 9-2 after the Phillies had won the opener, 7-5. Chicago after losing the first game, 2-1, came from behind with three runs in the ninth and one in the 10th to win the second game 5-4 from New York.

Minnesota climbed into a virtual first place tie with New York in the American League, downing the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-4 and 11-7 while Baltimore was beating the Yankees 5-1 and 7-2. Los Angeles took two from Kansas City 14-6 and 6-5 to move into fourth place past the Detroit Tigers who were set back twice by Washington 2-1 and 5-4. Cleveland whipped Boston 9-3 after the Red Sox had won the opener 4-3 in 11 innings.

A runaway crowd of 33,679, largest at Busch Stadium in 10 years, saw the Cardinals stretch their winning streak to seven games, which began after eight straight losses. Home runs by Curt Flood and Stan Musial highlighted the double triumph.

Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory and first baseman Ron Fairly drove in four runs with a triple, double and two singles in the Dodgers' first-game triumph over Houston. Catcher Norm Sherry batted in four runs in the nightcap, three with a home run in a six-run sixth inning. Don Buddin hit a grand slam homer for the Colts.

Andre Rodgers' run-scoring double off relief pitcher Ken McKenzie in the 10th after pinch hitter Ernie Banks' game-tying three-run homer in the ninth, gave the

Littler After Second Open

GENE LITTLER
... not since Hogan

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Not since Ben Hogan did it in 1951 has a U.S. Open champion repeated, but Gene Littler, the sweet-swinging from San Diego, Calif., made it clear today that he is a real threat for his second straight this week at Oakmont, Pa.

"I'm pretty confident about my game," said Littler, who collected the $25,000 first prize—top payoff of the year—in the $100,000 Golf Classic Sunday. "I'm playing as well as I am capable of playing."

I won't be the favorite though. I never am."
Those are strong words for Littler, an even-tempered quiet man who finally made the predictions of stardom for him stand up when he took the Open last year at Oakland Hills.

He banged out a 5 under par 67 Sunday, to come from a stroke back of Jack Nicklaus, and finish with 275, a four-day total of 13 under par on the 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Nicklaus had a final-round 70 for 277. Wes Ellis and Dow Finsterwald split third with 280. Littler's victory shot him into second spot among the pro money winners with $53,704.16, behind Arnold Palmer who has $60,331. Palmer had a poor tournament, never contending, and wound up with a 71, for 290 and $460. He spent more than that on new golf club grips during the tournament, trying to straighten out his game.

Littler 31, never has played Oakmont, the sand-speckled terror where he must defend his crown, in fact, never has seen it.

"I was in the Navy in 1953 the last time they played the Open there," he said, "and I couldn't get away. "But then I never played Upper Montclair before, either."

Sam Snead, the half-way leader, rallied from 78 in the third round to a two-under 70 to finish in a 10th place tie at 284. He made $1,900.

Racing Picture All Scrambled, Jaipur Winner

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Crimson Satan, the 1961 2-year-old champ, hasn't won a major race this year but he still could be a big factor in unscrambling the puzzle which Jaipur made of the 3-year-old title picture by winning the $153,300 Belmont Stakes.

First of all, however, Trainer George Potter must find what causes the Crimson King Farm's ace to lug in when he hooks up with other horses in a stretch battle such as developed in the final eighth of a mile last Saturday at Belmont Park.

With an eighth of a mile of the 1½-mile test remaining, Manuel Ycaza drove Crimson Satan to almost even terms with Jaipur and Admiral's Voyage, who had set nearly all the early pace, was on the rail, Crimson Satan on the outside.

Suddenly Satan lugged in and bumped Jaipur. Like a shot, Jaipur took off again but Admiral's Voyage answered the challenge with one of his own. As they reached the finish line, Willie Shoemaker dropped Jaipur's head in front to take the winner's share of $109,550 and give owner George D. Widener his first Belmont Stakes winner after 10 failures. Crimson Satan was 1½ lengths back in third place.

Crimson Satan's tendency to bear in previously had cost him the $130,700 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park on Memorial Day. He came from behind to finish ahead of Jaipur and Admiral's Voyage but lugged in and was disqualified. Jaipur was moved into first place and Admiral's Voyage awarded second.

"I've about come to the conclusion it is something in his head that makes him duck in," said Potter before shipping Crimson Satan to Monmouth Park at Oceanport, N. J. "I can't find what is hurting him. Perhaps there is a mental block. He doesn't do it until he hooks up with other horses in the stretch."

Calderwood Takes 3 1st Places

The P.O.N.Y. Association Point Show circuit couldn't mistake the fact that Stacy Calderwood was in competition this weekend, she took three first places, two seconds and one third.

The youthful Warren lass was first in the pony halter class, pony over 48-inches class and pony reining class. She was second in the pony under 48-inches class and Clover Leaf and third in the trail pony class.

Linda Weaver placed first in the pony under 48 inches class and Bob Spencer was first in the mare halter class.

Besides riding for trophies and ribbons each week, the riders and horses are building up points towards a season total. Some 150 horses and ponies are showing in this circuit from Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio and are some of the best from the Tri-State area.

Other area riders placing were: Judy Hohman—third in Queens' Class, fourth in western pleasure, third in junior equitation—12-18 years; Scott Hohman—second in pony over 48-inches, second in pony reining, fourth in equitation—under 12 years, fourth in trail pony;

John McGann—second in spin-the-bottle, fourth in keyhole race; Beverly Hohman—third in senior western equitation; Bob Spencer—third in stock horse, third in horse reining, fourth in senior western equitation;

James McGuire—fourth in pony halter class; Harvey Anderson—third in keyhole race; John Frantz—fourth in pleasure pony hitch; and Duane Kittner—second in jumping.

Johansson, Rosi Make Weekend Return Bids

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ingemar Johansson and Paolo Rosi, a couple of fighters who had their day of glory, make new bids for world title fights in the coming week.

Johansson, the former world and European heavyweight ruler, aims to regain the European crown in a 15-round title fight with Welshman Dick Richardson, the defender, at Goteborg, Sweden, Sunday, June 17.

The big Swede has high hopes of meeting the winner of the Sept. 25 title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston. Rosi, who was stopped on cuts in the title fight with world light-weight champion Joe Brown three years ago, takes on slick Carlos Hernandez, third ranking light-weight contender, in the television (ABC TV 9 p.m., EST) fight of the week at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The winner may get a crack at newly crowned lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz. Hernandez is from Venezuela. Rosi is an Italian now living in New York.

At Glasgow, Scotland, Thursday, middleweight contender Henry Hank of Detroit, meets John (Cowboy) McCormack, the former European middleweight champion from Glasgow.

At Rome, Italy, Friday night, Chuck Garrett of Chicago opposes light heavyweight contender Giulio Rinaldi of Italy, in a 10-round, and France's Gracieux Lamperti and Italy's Lino Mastellaro clash for the European feather-weight crown.

Zora Folley, the No. 3 heavy-weight contender from Chandler, Ariz., tangles with Paul Andrews of Los Angeles in a 10-rounder at Sacramento, Calif., Tuesday night. Andrews formerly fought out of Buffalo, N.Y.

Denny Moyer hopes to regain prestige for the fighting Moyers in a return bout with Teddy Wright at Madison Square Garden, July 7. Wright, a stringy welterweight from Detroit made it two out of two with the Moyers by gaining a split decision over Denny at the Garden last Saturday night. Two weeks ago Teddy outpointed Phil Moyer, in the same arena.

There is an international touch to most of the other key fights of the week.

Updegraff Sunnehanna Winner After 5 Trys

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—After five failures, Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., finally won the Sunnehanna Amateur Golf championship.

Updegraff fired a one-under par 69 at the Sunnehanna Country Club in nearby Westmont Sunday to take a smashing five-stroke victory.

His two-under par total of 278 for 76 holes gave him the big margin over Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia and Homero Blancas of Houston who tied for second at 283.

Updegraff led at the end of three rounds by one stroke over Hyndman, the tournament champion in 1959. But Updegraff birdied two of the first three holes in the final round while Hyndman bogged the first and parred the next two and that was enough to insure Updegraff's win.

The Arizona doctor fired a 34 on the front nine and 35 on the back nine. Hyndman was out with 35 and in with 38.

Miami, Fla., tied for fourth with 284.

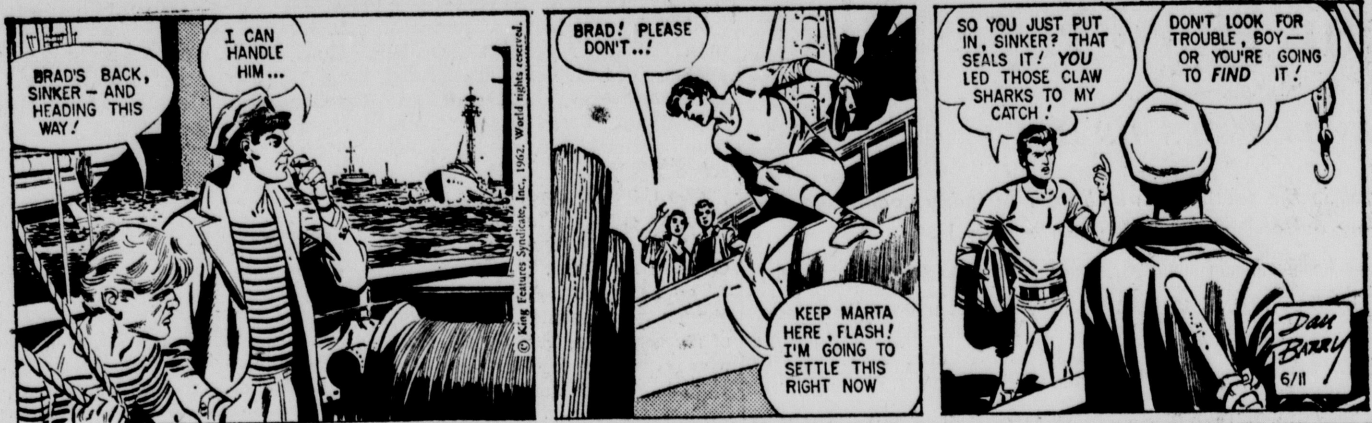

Dick Siderowf of Westport, Conn., the defending champion, fired a 70 to finish in a sixth place tie with Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind.

The top ten:
Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz., 73-66-70-69—278.
Bill Hyndman III, Philadelphia, 68-71-81-73—283.
Homero Blancas, Houston, 73-69-71-70—283.
Kermit Zarley, Yakima, Wash., 68-74-73-69—284.
Dick Chapman, Miami, Fla., 71-72-72-69—284.
Sam Carmichael, Martinsville, Ind., 71-70-71-73—285.
Dick Siderowf, Westport, Conn., 73-74-63-70—285.
Mark Hopkins, Texas City, Tex., 71-76-69-71—287.
Fred Marti, Houston, 72-72-70-73—287.
Roger McManus, Terrace Park, Ohio, 74-73-66-74—287.

Blancas, the leading player on the University of Houston golf team, shot a par 70 in the final round to move up from a third-round fourth place tie.

Jelses To Attend La Salle?

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—John Jelses, first man to clear 16 feet the pole vault, may enroll at La Salle College in the fall, it was learned today.

Jelses, the only man to vault 16 ft both indoors and outdoors, recently decided against entering Villanova, a track power, because he couldn't get the okay to work with his own training schedule and competition.

Jelses, recently discharged from the Marines, competed Sunday in the Middle Atlantic AAU track meet, his first meet activity since suffered a double sprain to his ankle three weeks ago. He cleared only 14 feet and finished second to Rolando Cruz of Villanova who cleared 15½. Both did fiberglass poles.

Villanova won eight individual events but finished runnerup to the Philadelphia Pioneer Club which successfully defended its team title with 61 points. Villanova had Jelses missed sprint stank Budd who did not compete cause of an injured left leg which he is resting in order to be ready for the NCAA championships today and Saturday at Eugene, Ore.

Budd's shadow and teammate, Phil Drayton, captured the sprints setting the 100 in :09.5 and the 220 in :20.8.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

(Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.)

FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—My! How touchy some people, eh? But some do not give the impression they mean to nor UNDERSTAND others' interpretation! So many sides to view; judge not hastily; strengthen compassion.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Attractive propositions with engaging folks? Be doubly careful what these involve, whether you can afford to be "in" on the suggestions. Generally favorable elements.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—A full, vibrant, on-whole friendly month wherein to take up only the commendable, and hold to consistency. Look for the lead factors, important pointers.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—And you could not have a better month for presenting your best side, your hidden talents, and promoting total welfare in finest way. Empower TODAY with enriched good will.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—By getting off on right foot, you can quickly step into position for new victories, renewed acquaintances that truly please, and establishing future benefits. Unfold with even balance.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—May be some hectic moments, but this period offers fresh ways to display concerted assets, especially your sense of symmetry and perspective. Show Virgo's finesse plus tact.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Will be obliged to do some extra special thinking, maybe review and make a few changes here, there, whatever, weigh ALL data calmly, with your usual levelheadedness.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Certain components not apparent, details needed to be known may seem hidden. So work hard at unearthing, developing, ameliorating. Results can be very satisfactory.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Ask questions (from right sources, of course), research, discern, then study some more to BE SURE. This way is safe, if a little slower; there will be less redoing, regrets.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Today's aspects, especially Saturn's, call for diplomacy, accuracy, also determination to stand firmly on and for principles. Fluctuating tendencies, combat unstable inclinations.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Give yourself a chance! You don't when you attempt too many activities or try to take on too many chores. Express dissatisfaction with overcrowding, steady your own course.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Take a decided stand but be ready to listen to well-founded advice, without misgivings. Channel positive energy thoughtfully. Rule out doubts, jumping on impressions; restrain desires.

'Share Time' Studied by Catholic Schools

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP)—Should Roman Catholic schools, under the pressure of heavy enrollments and the controversy about state and federal aid, work toward "share time" partnership with public schools?

Two Catholic superintendents of schools debate the question in articles in the June issue of The Catholic Educator.

The Very Rev. Arthur T. Geoghegan, superintendent of schools of the diocese of Providence, R.I., who favors the recently suggested plan, begins his discussion with a definition:

"Briefly stated, shared time means that a pupil in a church-sponsored school would receive part of his instruction in a neighboring public school and part in the church-sponsored school. He might, for instance, attend classes in spelling, penmanship, mathematics and science in the public school and study religion, history and literature in the church-related school."

Msgr. Geoghegan and The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Justin A. Driscoll, superintendent of schools of the archdiocese of Dubuque, Iowa, agree on the point that the optimum educational plan, in the Catholic viewpoint, is a full-time program in a church-affiliated school.

However, Msgr. Geoghegan asks, "To how many children are Catholic schools available? With more than 25 per cent of the chil-

Mrs. Elizabeth Archibald, county librarian, was nominated for the position of secretary-treasurer of the County Library Association, at a recent meeting in Huntingdon.

Mrs. Archibald, who attended the session with Mrs. Georgia Coyle, Warren librarian, will be elected to the position at the annual conference of the Pennsylvania Library Association on Oct. 4-6 in Philadelphia.

Other officers nominated were: Christopher B. DeVan, Chester County Public Library, chairman; Mrs. Meredith Smith, Bucks County Free Library, vice-chairman.

The next meeting of the association will be conducted in Warren next spring.

dren born annually in the United States baptized Catholics, fewer than half of them can hope to attend Catholic elementary schools. Catholic secondary schools can accommodate still fewer. By 1970 only one out of every three Catholic children will be able to attend a Catholic school."

LUTHERANS ON THE MOVE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Note on American mobility:

The National Lutheran Council reports that some of its churches have lost as many as 60 per cent of their members in the past five years while gaining back the same amount at the same time through new members and transfers.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two men from Boston — William Stanley Braithwaite and Edward J. O'Brien — are now both dead. A lot of people still alive owe them a great debt.

It is a debt which hardly ever gets acknowledged by more than a reference in a footnote in literary history. Neither was a creative artist. They published anthologies of other people's writings. This is an attempt, if only for one day and in a personal way, to do better than a footnote for Braithwaite who died over the weekend at 83 and O'Brien, who died in 1941 at 51.

Every year from 1913 to 1929 Braithwaite, a Negro largely self-educated, published a fat book called "Anthology of Magazine Verse." Every year from 1915 to 1940 O'Brien published what he called the best short stories of the year.

Two things made these books remarkable: the time and the attitude of the two men.

The time, from about 1912 to about 1929 was the most exciting literary period in 20th century America. It was a time of literary revolution, protest, experimentation, new form, new views.

This writer grew up on the West Side of New York where Irish, German and Italian immigrants had settled, raised sons and daughters as first-generation Americans, and, many of them, still remained to see their grandchildren growing up.

This was not an intellectual environment. These people never had much time for schooling. They had to go to work young and they worked long hours. You would not sit around a living room in that neighborhood and hear about the new breath of life whistling through American literature.

But you could learn about it if you went to the neighborhood library. I didn't hear it from the librarian. They seemed too busy marking cards to read much. And I did not find new authors spread out on the shelves.

But I was lucky. I found the anthologies of O'Brien and Braithwaite.

O'Brien always seemed to include in his anthologies a certain percentage of the usual, old-fashioned formula short story from the popular and conservative magazines. I sometimes felt he thought he had to do it to get his books into the libraries at all.

But in between he sandwiched the new writing, by men like Sherwood Anderson and Ernest Hemingway, and experimental writing, some of which wasn't good. These he reprinted from magazines I had never heard of although they were great forces in the new literature—the Little Review, the Dial, the Double Dealer, Midland, Broom.

That branch library did not carry them. But once I learned of them from O'Brien's book, I could go to New York's main library, find them, and sit there and read them on Sunday nights. And there I would discover even more writers than O'Brien put into his books.

The same thing with Braithwaite. He was a traditionalist in poetry himself, but, like O'Brien, along with the sunset and flowers stuff, he carried the work of the imagists like Hilda Doolittle in England who were championed by Ezra Pound, which was long before he got into trouble; the work of Amy Lowell, Edgar Lee Masters, Carl Sandburg, and the work of Robert Frost who for long had been ignored in his own country.

Braithwaite, too, carried the names of poetry magazines I had never heard of but which I could also find in the main library. All this would not mean much if it were just the experience of one young man in the early 1920s. I never thought about it much at the time, I guess. I was just happy to have found these books and get help from them.

Later, as I grew older, I realized my experience must have been shared by many thousands of young people all over America, particularly in areas where there was no one to guide them in their reading by handing them the latest in literature at a time when they were restless and seeking new insights into writing and the world they lived in.

To us, Braithwaite and O'Brien made a great contribution and I have always felt indebted to both of them.

Titusville Pilots 1, 2 in Rally

Titusville drivers drove away with first and second places in the Seventh Annual Seneca Highlands Rally conducted yesterday in Kane and only one Warren car finished in the top five.

Driving a Triumph, Joseph Brooks and Navigator Jack Seltz piloted their car to a fourth place finish over the lengthy course. There were only four entries from Warren in the 28-car field.

Machinist's Mate Allen Tuttle Serving Aboard Aircraft Carrier

ALLEN L. TUTTLE

Aviation machinist's mate 2/c Allen L. Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tuttle of 118 Grant St., is now serving aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard, CVA-31, stationed at San Diego, Calif.

He went aboard last month and will be at China Lake in the Mojave Desert for two years.

Tuttle enlisted three years ago at Pittsburgh, completed his recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill., and was promoted to Petty Officer 1/C in December, 1961.

The local Navy recruiting office is located in Room 305 of the Warren Bank and Trust Building. The recruiter in charge will welcome the opportunity to discuss with eligible young men of the Warren area the many fields of training available to high school graduates under the high school graduate training program, he said.

Republicans Count on Market, Estes To Swing House Election

By JACK BELL

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Republicans are counting heavily on uneasiness in the stock market and the Billie Sol Estes scandal to help them win control of the House in the November election. Members of the Republican National Committee open formal sessions today with far more optimistic feelings about the election results than they had a month ago.

National Chairman William E. Miller put this feeling into words when he told a gathering of Young Republicans: "We have the issues on our side this time. We are going to win in November."

The issues, as spelled out by Miller and other committee members, revolve around what they called a lack of confidence by the business community in President Kennedy—as exemplified by the stock market's gyrations—a reputed effort by the President to enlarge executive power and a new GOP slogan that there are "too many Kennedys in government."

Fred Scribner of Maine, the committee's general counsel, said a national party survey indicates the people in general "are not nearly as happy as they were with the way the country is being run."

Individual committee members reported a lift in Republican spirits, most of which was due to what they said was adverse reaction to Kennedy's steel price roll back tactics. Several mentioned the revelations concerning Estes' manipulations in grain storage and cotton acreage allotments in Texas as being likely to damage Democrats.

A typical report came from South Dakota committeeman Carroll Lockhart, whose state was honored at a World's Fair ceremony Sunday.

Piano Students Give Recital At Youngsville

YOUNGVILLE — Twenty-five piano students, taught by Mrs. Annabelle Pierce, participated in a recital Tuesday evening in the auditorium of Youngsville High School.

Janet Ahlquist, Youngsville High valedictorian, opened the program with "Claire de Lune" by Debussy and "Scottish Highland Scene" by Thompson. Cindy Walter and Merri Lu Gustafson sang a duet, and Paula Barber presented a vocal solo, "Sit Up and Smile and Be Glad."

Other performers included Penny Sweetland, Sandra Haight, Sherrie Williams, Lois Chitester, Bonnie Jewell, Eileen Walter, Judy Danielson, Karen Peterson, Cindy Walter, Kaihy Abbey, Cheryl DeVore, Lynette Rhodes, Patty Walter, Toni Lehman, Barbara Wroblewski, Gary Baughman, Becky Jewell, Yvonne Craft, Linda Barton, Millie Finlan and Margo Finlan.

Miss Ahlquist concluded the program with two numbers—"Deep Purple" by Peter De Rose and "Autumn Leaves" by George H. Greeley.

Three Leaders Bunched In Peruvian Elections

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

LIMA (AP)—Three leading candidates in Peru's presidential race were closely bunched today in partial, unofficial returns.

Early indications were that the new Congress might have to elect the nation's chief executive from the leading trio of contenders. None appeared headed for the required 34 per cent of the valid votes.

An early trend favoring former dictator Manuel A. Odría seemed checked in post-midnight tabulations by newspapers and radio and television stations.

Official returns are not expected before June 18, after the national electoral jury completes a scrutiny of the ballots.

Since there are hardly any non-partisan factions in the country, the election picture in its early stages was one of confusion.

The newest trend bunched Odría with Fernando Belaunde Terry of the leftist Popular Action party and Victor Raúl Haya de la Torre of the left-center APRA party. The four other presidential candidates were clearly out of the running.

The newspaper La Prensa, which gave some backing to Haya de la Torre, reported a change in an early trend favoring Odría. It reported results from 1,617 of the nation's more than 10,000 voting districts yielded 74,429 votes for Haya, 68,666 for Odría and 67,910 for Belaunde. The total was roughly 12 per cent of an anticipated total vote of about 1.7 million.

The newspaper El Comercio said its tabulations favored Odría with Belaunde and Haya behind in that order. El Comercio backed Odría and violently opposed Haya.

Its tabulation: returns from 1,063 of 3,418 districts in Lima and nearby Callao, Odría 70,729, Belaunde 59,132, Haya 49,523. El Comercio said Belaunde appeared to be leading in the provinces.

La Tribuna, organ of Haya's APRA party, claimed Haya had 249,615 votes, Belaunde 150,611 and Odría 122,598.

The election Sunday, one of the costliest and bitterest in Peru's history, went off in apparent peace. There were no reports of violence.

Seven candidates in all sought to succeed incumbent president Manuel Prado for the six-year term. Also at stake were the Senate seats and the 184 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Radar Teams Nab 4,528 For Speeding

State police radar teams made 4,528 arrests for speeding on Pennsylvania highways last month. In a report on radar activities throughout the state during the month, Col. Frank G. McCartney, state police commissioner, said 3,500 passenger car operators were arrested by radar teams, 965 truck operators, and 13 bus drivers.

The month's operations brought the total number of drivers detected speeding by radar to 31,633 since radar went into legalized operation last September.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike detail and the Greensburg Troop 1 radar teams turned in the highest number of arrests, 698 and 481 respectively.

The report showed that, as usual, truck traffic on the Turnpike accounted for approximately half the monthly arrests. In nine months of radar operation, radar teams on the toll road have made 3,919 speeding arrests, of which 60 per cent of 2,355 involved commercial vehicles. Off-Turnpike truckers account for 18 per cent of 5,018 of radar arrests.
